BIG PENALTY ON ESTUARY PLAN LOOMS

County Faces Loss of $5000 A Month After June 30 if Arrangements For Bridge or Tube Incomplete Then

Pleas For Extension of Time Limit Disregarded by War Department, According to Wire From MacLafferty

Beginning the first of July the United States Government will impose upon Alameda county a $5000 a month penalty if the county by that time has not taken definite steps toward spanning the estuary at Webster street with a bridge or tube.

The ultimatum to the county was delivered to Congressman J. H. MacLafferty at Washington by General Lansing H. Beach, chief of engineers of the War Department, and transmitted by MacLafferty to the Chamber of Commerce.

A committee of the chamber had the ultimatum under discussion at a meeting at luncheon this noon.

COUNTY MUST COMMIT ITSELF BY JUNE 30.

The following is the text of a telegram from Congressman MacLafferty to the county.

Referring to your telegram of January 4, General Beach advised me this morning that unless Alameda county commits itself, legally, financially and definitely, before June 30, to the building of either a bridge or a tube a penalty of $5000 per month will be levied by the government.

It is information proves to be official it means that the War Department has ignored recent efforts by local representatives, shipping concerns along the estuary and the city of Alameda to obtain a postponement of the time limit set by the government some time ago.

The ultimatum also means that the present Tube Act must be revised in the state legislature and a special election called for bonds to provide for its construction of a tube before that time or the Board of Supervisors will be forced to order the construction of a bridge in order to avoid the almost prohibitive penalty of $5000 a month for delay thereafter.

CAPTAIN THIBBETS IN WASHINGTON NOW.

At present, Captain William G. Thibbets, representing forty-one shipping firms on the estuary, is in Washington endeavoring to obtain a postponement of the time limit until July 1, 1923.

Special Tube Act Held Unconstitutional.

made a state law to make this possible. By some mischance the tube act as drawn, is unconstitutional, according to an opinion rendered by the district attorney.

L. A. Offers Land And Million for Branch of U. C.

Bid to Secure Elevation of Rank of Southern Institution.

By E. VAN LIER RIBBINK. TRIBUNE BUREAU, SACRAMENTO, Jan. 9.—An out-and-out gift of one thousand acres of land and of one million dollars in cash, will be offered to the State of California by the city and people of Los Angeles, on condition that both the land and money be devoted to the purposes of a Southern California University which shall, in all respects, offer the same instruction, on a four-years' course, as at present afforded by the University of California in Berkeley, and which shall confer the same degrees.

State Senator Joseph A. Rominger of Long Beach, made this announcement today, adding that the offer of the land and the money will be incorporated in the bill which is to be introduced in the legislature with the backing of the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce by Senator Charles W. Lyon of Venice.

This bill is generally considered in legislative circles as the "thin end of the wedge" to be used by the southern delegation toward establishing separate identity for the southern branch of the University of California. Senators Rominger and Lyon claim, however, that they do not intend to infringe upon the jurisdiction of the board of regents.

SITE OFFERED FOR STATE INSTITUTION.

According to Rominger, the site to be offered, is located on what is known as the "model city" at Palo Verde, which is southwest of Los Angeles proper. In stating that the south is planning to do in this regard, Senator Rominger spoke of the hardships inflicted on students from Los Angeles and neighborhood who, under present circumstances, have to travel some 500 miles to attend the state institution at Berkeley.

He also made the claim that approximately one-half of the attendance at Berkeley now comes from the south.

In this connection he said: "Last Monday night I saw the Lark pull out of the Los Angeles depot. In four sections, with some 1600 young people from Los Angeles aboard, all bound for the University at Berkeley."

Determined opposition to what is considered an evident intention on the part of Los Angeles to disrupt the unity of the University of California, and to establish a State University of its own in the south, is being shown by the members of the Alameda delegation in particular, and by northern delegates in general.

BLOW AIMED AT STATE UNIVERSITY.

Senator Frank M. Carr of Oakland said: "During the previous Legislature Senator Lyon introduced a bill for the establishment of a so-called Institute of Technology at, or near Los Angeles. In this we recognized an attempt to usurp the functions of the University of California, and the bill was scotched in committee. I fully intend to make the same fight against the proposed bill, as that which I led against the Institute of Technology."

"The people of the state at large, I am sure, do not favor disruption of the State University."

Senator Carr formerly was assistant superintendent of schools of Alameda county, and his colleagues in the Senate are in the habit of deferring to his expert knowledge of all matters touching on education.

Similar opposition to any violation of the State University's unity, was voiced by other senators and assemblymen.

Senator Will R. Sharkey of Martinez said: "We must have one California, of which we all may be proud. It would be folly to weaken that institution by splitting it into sundry colleges and smaller schools."

Senator Herbert W. C. West of Santa Rosa, Senator T. C. West of Alameda and others, concurred in this opinion, and it is evident that when the southern delegation brings in its bill, they will have a fight on their hands.

RICHARDSON TAKES OATH AS GOVERNOR

As New Executive Begins His Term He Renews Pledge of Economy and Promises Housecleaning in State Jobs

Message Says There Must Be Elimination of Useless Departments: Stephens Bids Farewell to Office

BY UNITED PRESS. LEASED WIRE TO TRIBUNE. SACRAMENTO, Jan. 9.—Retiring Governor Stephens, today delivered his inaugural message before a joint session of both houses of the state legislature.

The address of the incoming governor, made following the administration of the oath of office, was the chief item of interest on a three-hour program, which also included a reading of retiring Governor William D. Stephens' third biennial message and a short farewell by the outgoing executive, together with felicitations for both the old and new governors, music and other features which regularly accompany such auspicious political events.

RICHARDSON TELLS PLANS IN MESSAGE.

Governor Richardson's message was less than 1500 words in length, one of the briefest addresses of its kind in the state's history. The new executive reaffirmed his pledge of economy.

"Without weakening any of the humane, charitable, progressive or educational functions of the state," the new executive stated that the state should improve its "form of government" by eliminating "unneeded boards and officers, by consolidation and by doing away with overlapping functions."

"Primarily the people must depend upon the men in government," he said, "rather than the form of government, but with men dedicated to public service much can be done, and with an improved plan still more."

Excessive legislation was dealt a rap by the governor when he expressed a desire for better and fewer laws. "Let us hope that the statute book of 1923 will be the smallest in a score of years," he said.

ENFORCEMENT OF DRY LAW PLEDGED.

Governor Richardson declared that the civil service in filling state positions "has proved its worth," gave assurance that the Volstead Act must and will be enforced in California, and told the legislators to be prepared to soon receive the executive budget "which represents the expressed will of the people in the matter of state economy."

"It is my purpose," Richardson declared, "to remove from office the members of the present political machine, to substitute business for politics in state government, to abolish unnecessary offices and commissions, to restore efficiency to the various departments, to put highway construction in the hands of skilled road builders, to attend strictly to the business of my office and while meeting all necessary needs of the state, to save the people many millions of dollars."

FAREWELL WORDS FROM STEPHENS.

Retiring Governor Stephens, in his third biennial message to the legislature, read following Governor Richardson's inaugural, presented a full review of the policies upon which he had governed.

He reviewed, together with a resume of the most important legislation passed during his term in office.

Stephens recommended that the legislature take steps to extend the privileges embodied in the Veterans' Welfare program, including that of borrowing money for bonded construction or land purchase, to all veterans of California. The $10,000,000 bond issue voted last November will only take care of wounded and disabled veterans, he indicated.

The retiring executive declared that the actual net expenditure of the State during the past two years was only $82,811,823, a substantial cut from the $88,211,822 contained in his 1921 budget.

In concluding his message, Stephens recommended the legislators that California is a "progressive State, committed by the enlightenment and conviction of its people to forward looking, constructive and humane policies, and I confidently look for the maintenance and development of those principles in your deliberations and legislation."

Letters Reveal Love Affair of Former Pastor

Mrs. Van Tassel, Ordained Minister, Gives Name of Husband's Affinity.

The alleged love affair of Robert D. Van Tassel, former pastor of the Universalist Church, with another woman, and the "cold, calculating" methods he is said to have employed to induce his wife to secure a divorce that he might marry the woman of his preference, was charged on the witness stand in Superior Judge Quinn's court today by Mrs. Anna Belle Van Tassel, who is seeking separate maintenance of $300 a month.

Mrs. Van Tassel, herself ordained as a minister in the same church in which her husband officiated, created a sensation in the courtroom, when she made public for the first time the name of the Oakland woman who, she claims, was her husband's affinity, and introduced through her attorneys, a number of intimate letters, comprising a portion of the alleged correspondence between her husband and the woman.

Another letter, said by Mrs. Van Tassel to have been written to her by her husband and never mailed, imploring her to secure a divorce and break off "a formal relationship that is distasteful, irritating and repulsive," was introduced by the witness. According to the wife, she found the letter in the waste basket in her husband's office.

NAMED WOMAN.

The woman named by Mrs. Van Tassel as the disquieting factor of her matrimonial life is Mrs. Kathleen Watkins, a clerk at the branch postoffice in the Bacon building, and residing at the St. Mark Hotel.

Van Tassel, who has been a contractor and builder and automobile sales manager, it is charged, corresponded with Mrs. Watkins for the past several years, and on several instances left his wife for her. On one occasion, according to the witness, he remained away from home for ten days and then telephoned his wife and asked her to meet him at an attorney's office and arrange for legal separation.

This occurred, Mrs. Van Tassel testified, one afternoon after she had seen him in an automobile in front of a grocery store. According to the wife's story, while the minister walked in the machine, Mrs. Watkins came out of the store with an armful of groceries.

She was about to step into the auto, Mrs. Van Tassel said, when Van Tassel saw his wife. He hurriedly motioned Mrs. Watkins to walk in the other direction, and alone in the automobile drove away. According to his wife she did not hear from him then for ten days.

According to his wife's statements, Van Tassel is worth between $40,000 and $50,000, most of the sum having been made from building activities and sale of motor cars. This money is in community property, she testified.

"DEAR KATHLEEN" LETTER INTRODUCED.

One of the letters introduced as evidence is alleged to have been written by Van Tassel to Mrs. Watkins, from Sioux City, Ia. It is dated November 18, 1921, and carries the attractive postoffice employee of certain conditions. "I trust you implicitly," the letter reads, "and know you are equal to any emergency." The letter follows:

"My dear Kathleen, Your sweet message of Monday is with me, and I am certainly glad to hear from you. I am probably detained here until after November 25, the day our suit is set for trial. But I can't back out of an agreed settlement, so nothing left to do but wait. Say, sweetheart, I am out of town some, and I fear the two points where he was barred from arguing against what he termed the largest defects in the law.

The arguments were heard by two new members of the court, Justice Emmet Sewell of Santa Rosa and Justice F. H. Kerrigan, who was seated yesterday.

WRIGHT ACT HELD VALID BY DECISION

State Supreme Court Rules Measure Is Constitutional and Dismisses Habeas Corpus Case Brought on Test

New California Act Declared Legal and in Accord With Provisions of the Volstead Law; Arrest Is Upheld

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 9.—The constitutionality of the Wright prohibition enforcement act was upheld by the State Supreme Court in a decision today refusing a writ of habeas corpus to Franklin Burke, selected for the test by the California Protective Association, and remanding him to jail.

"We find nothing in the act which makes the law invalid so far as it adopted the existing provisions of the Volstead act," said the decision of the court. This was one of the chief points attacked. The court also held that whether the fine assessed under the act went to the state or the federal government was not a matter of concern to the prisoner, but a matter to be threshed out later.

ONE QUESTION RAISED IS NOT INVOLVED.

After holding there was no constitutional bar to the adoption of the provisions of the Volstead act, the decision continued:

"The second point which the petitioner urges is that the act is made void by reason of the fact that it adopts not only the existing provisions of the Volstead act, but purports to adopt also the future provisions which may be hereafter enacted by congress. It may be conceded that this provision is not valid, although we do not decide it, since it is not involved. The only effect of putting that provision into the statute would be, at most, that the provision itself would be void leaving the remainder of the act valid. It is not such a component part of the act itself, as would be necessary to require us to hold that it invalidated the entire act."

"The question whether the fines which are imposed under the penal provisions of the act are payable to the United States or the state may be made a matter of dispute but it is not a question with which the petitioner is concerned. As soon as he pays the money he will be exonerated and the disposition thereof is a matter to be determined thereafter."

The decision was an unanimous one.

ARGUMENTS CONFINED TO POINT OF VALIDITY.

Briefs were submitted by W. H. Metson, San Francisco attorney, representing six associates who assisted in preparing the arguments. Arguments supporting the Wright Act were heard from Richard O'Connor of the San Francisco district attorney's office charged with prosecuting the case.

According to the arguments advanced by Metson, the Wright act places upon the taxpayers of California the burden of employing officers to enforce a law under the provisions of which fines must be paid to the Internal Revenue department. He held the state could be required to enforce such a law.

IT'S NO CONCERN OF MAN FOUND GUILTY.

"It is no concern of a man guilty of an offense what becomes of his fine after he is fined," said Justice William P. Lawlor interrupting Brown.

"Just confine yourself to the point of the validity of the law in the particular offense charged in the case before the court," said Presiding Justice Lucien Shaw.

Such admonitions narrowed the point where he was barred from arguing against what he termed the largest defects in the law.

The arguments were heard by two new members of the court, Justice Emmet Sewell of Santa Rosa and Justice F. H. Kerrigan, who was seated yesterday.

U. S. Law Blocks Debt Collection, Harding Asserts

Funding Is Impossible Under Limits; Separate Pacts to Be Entered Into.

By WILLIAM J. LOSH. United Press Staff Correspondent. WASHINGTON, Jan. 9.—None of the nations owing the United States the $11,000,000,000 war debt can fund their obligations within the limitations imposed by congress, it was officially announced at the White House today.

The White House confirmed United Press despatches that the American debt commission would obtain the best possible terms in the funding of the British debt through negotiations now under way here, and then make a report to the president, who, in turn, would submit it to congress with a recommendation for modification of the law to enable this government to accept it.

SEPARATE PACT TO BE MADE WITH EACH NATION.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 9.—(By The Associated Press.)—Preliminary negotiations with the British finance commission over the question of payment of the British war debt to the United States has convinced the administration, a White House spokesman declared today, that no settlement of the problem can be made under terms of the law as it now exists.

President Harding is convinced, it was declared, that the American commissioners in dealing with the situation must recommend a tentative plan for settlement with each of the debtor European nations, without regard to the present law, and that these plans must be presented later for the approval of congress.

Congress in its decision may then alter the law, it was explained, in order to allow a final settlement.

President Harding considers that the British delegation and the American commissioners may reach some sort of an agreement within a week as to the handling of the British debt but that the agreement cannot become valid until congress has removed some of the restrictions in the law.

NO NATION CAN PAY SUCH HIGH INTEREST.

Neither Great Britain nor any other European nation, in the official view, can pay war debts to the United States with the interest rates as high as they are now fixed by the statute, or within the time limit which they are allotted for payment. When the American commission has decided what modifications are absolutely necessary, the president considers that there will be a test of what the nation desires to do, and what its representatives in congress will allow to be done.

Harding is said to feel that if a plan which will provide for ultimate payment of the British debt is developed by the present negotiations and that plan is approved by congress, even at the cost of relieving some of the burdens placed upon the debtor nations a precedent which will be set which will guide in settlement among all other governments associated with the United States during the war.

ALAMEDA NAVY BASE IS UNDER CONSTRUCTION

MacLafferty Introduces Bill For Acceptance of 5340 Acres.

Acceptance by the United States Government of the 5340 acres tendered for naval base purposes by the City of Alameda is authorized in a bill introduced into the House of Representatives at Washington, D. C. today by Representative James H. MacLafferty of this district.

The time limit on the offer, which was originally made by Alameda three years ago, expires January 21, 1924.

Under the terms of the offer, the government would acquire the land in perpetuity, and without cost.

At the time the offer was made, in January, 1920, a deed to the land was formally presented to the Navy Department by representatives of the City of Alameda. Considerable ceremony attended the presentation, which took place in Navy Department headquarters in Washington, and several high officials of the navy made speeches of acceptance.

It was pointed out that this was one of the most valuable gifts ever made to the government, as the land was appraised at approximately $12,000 an acre.

The tract consists of 5340 acres of land and upland lying along the waterfront shore of the Alameda.

BERLIN MAY END RELATIONS

PARIS, Jan. 9.—(United Press.)—France held the most modern war machine ever known ready for action today as Germany was found guilty of default in reparations deliveries. Censorship almost like that of war time shrouded troop movements along the Rhine, but it was impossible to conceal the cavalry, artillery, infantry and an immense array of the most up-to-date airplanes and tanks which for several days have been rushed up to the Rhineland borders.

BRUSSELS, Jan. 9.—Active military preparations were under way here today to support the French advance into the Ruhr. Belgian troop movements toward the German frontier were reported to be proceeding. Premier Theunis formally announced to the Chamber of Deputies today the government's determination to stand beside France in the occupation of the Ruhr district. He regretted that the Allies were moving without England.

BERLIN, Jan. 9.—(By The Associated Press.)—Thirty-eight trains carrying French troops left Mayence yesterday with Essen as the destination of the forces says an Essen telegram today. The arrival of heavy artillery and sappers is reported from the neighborhood of Neuss, (three and one-half miles southwest of Duesseldorf).

BERLIN RULED IN DEFAULT ON COAL

American Reparations Representative Says Germany's Burdens Too Great.

By WERNER MILLER. (United Press Staff Correspondent) PARIS, Jan. 11.—The reparations commission, three to one today, found Germany voluntarily in default with coal payments during 1922.

The commission notified the French government of the default and it was stated action will follow almost immediately, possibly tomorrow.

Sir John Bradburn, the British representative, voted against the finding.

This is the necessary technical action which was to precede French invasion of the Ruhr valley in the event of default.

By the vote, Germany is found to have wilfully defaulted in amounts of coal that should have been delivered to France during the past year. The Germans claim they delivered so much they were forced to import other coal themselves.

The French clapped an immediate censorship, applying to foreign news as well as to domestic.

PARIS, Jan. 9.—(By The Associated Press.)—Royal Eoyden, American representative, was called upon to express his views at today's meeting of the reparations commission, before that body voted Germany in wilful default in her coal deliveries. Eoyden explained he was expressing his personal sentiments.

It was learned authoritatively that he took the view that while a default actually existed in German coal deliveries for 1922, the conditions under which the default occurred were such that it required special consideration.

It is known that the American observer expressed himself as impressed by the fact that the default was only between 18 and 20 per cent of the deliveries.

He then is said to have pointed out that the deliveries of merchandise which developed under the treaty were far too great a burden on Germany.

It was a mistaken idea that it was necessary to deliver more than 100,000 tons of merchandise without affecting the financial and economic situation, he is said to have pointed out. As a matter of fact, he thought that deliveries such as were being made were a serious strain on Germany's situation and one of the principal elements contributing to the weakness of Germany.

STEPHENS IN FAREWELL MESSAGE REVIEWS HIS WORK

RETIRING GOV. EXECUTIVE TELLS ECONOMY RECORD

Urges Development of State's Oil Land as Source of Revenue.

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 9.—The third biennial message of Governor William D. Stephens to the legislature presents a very complete review of the administrative policies and some of the outstanding legislation during the six years in which he has been governor. The message is distinctly progressive and constructive in tone, with many practical suggestions for advanced legislation. It says in part: "During the past six years the people of California have witnessed some of the most significant events in the history of this state and nation have known—the crisis of a World War, the subsequent readjustment of social, economic and business conditions, and the development which has given to California the unique and completing distinction of being the most prosperous section of the Union agriculturally, industrially, commercially and financially during the years of prevailing national and world depression. "We are now confronted with the prospect of an unprecedented development and expansion, for which the foundations have been well and truly laid. It is broadly true that progress in education, industry, agriculture and commerce rests back upon the principles of government in which these are based, and upon the practical encouragement and protection given to these interests of our people by the state. California, with its vast, undeveloped resources, and advancing population, has need of governmental projects and policies directed for the stable and settled states of the east. "The retiring governor expressed the hope that the governmental institutions which have been created and fostered under progressive and humane policies and measures, initiated by my predecessor, and myself, and which I firmly believe have placed the State of California in a commanding and envied position among all the states of the Union, may be continued and protected by the governor whom the voters in their wisdom, chosen to succeed me, and for whom I wish personally and administratively the utmost success people."

VETERANS' WELFARE.
After a reference to the Veterans' Welfare program as one of the outstanding achievements of the state, and in which he indicated that the $10,000,000 bonds voted by the people last November would only take care of wounded and disabled soldiers without any aid for able-bodied veterans, he recommended that the legislature take further steps to extend the same benefits to all able-bodied veterans who have applied for loans under the Veterans' Farm and Home Purchase act.
PROHIBITION ENFORCEMENT.
Governor Stephens sustained his lifelong reputation as a prohibition supporter by reviewing his congressional and gubernatorial record in this line, including the fact that he was the first governor of California who had ever announced in his candidacy his support of prohibition, which he did in 1918 and in his securing of a federal dry amendment to the constitution by the public convention of the same year. He pronounced the Wright act as now the law of the state, due to be enforced by all officers of the law.
ORIENTAL PROBLEM.
The governor did not fail to cover the Oriental problem by his references to all the measures that have been adopted by this state from 1913 on, and to the special report on the subject that he had prepared by the Board of Control in 1920, and winds up by urging the legislature to provide for the registration of all persons residing in the state who are ineligible to citizenship, which means all Orientals, and to press congress for the passage of an exclusion act against all such people.
LEGISLATION.
In his review of administrative conditions Governor Stephens outlined the governmental reorganization of 1919 and 1921, by which some sixty-three state agencies were consolidated into six major departments, which are involved in 5 per cent of all the state's expenditures.
STATE EXPENDITURES.
Referring to state expenditures, Governor Stephens shows that the total amount of his budget of 1921, including all appropriations and fixed charges, was $35,211,523, which was reduced by the action of the Board of Control in a saving of $1,500,000 in appropriations and by refunding of $2,000,000 by the Veterans' Welfare board to the general fund under the act of 1921, providing for the $10,000,000 bonds. Stephens, an actual net expenditure for the two years of $33,811,523.
STATE OIL REVENUE.
The oil development on property adjacent to the Norwalk Hospital property in southern California, making that property susceptible of producing an enormous revenue to the state, receives an extended reference in the message. The governor puts up to the legislature two definite alternative propositions; one, the subdividing of the 272 acres into parcels of twenty to forty acres each, and leasing these parcels upon a bonus and royalty basis, the bonuses to be distributed over the various propties to an aggregate amount of national investment of the state in land and buildings, and the royalties to be on a competitive basis, it being assumed from informal offers and suggestions already made by oil promoters, that royalties of between 30 and 50 per cent can be secured, on account of the proven oil character of the property, and the high gravity grade of the oil. The other alternative is for the state itself to develop the property for oil, the legislature authorizing $500,000 for this purpose, and the development to be conducted under the supervision of the Board of Control or the Department of Public Works. In this connection it is pointed out that the state is now spending over $300,000 a year for oil, the legislature authorizing oil, gasoline, distillate and kerosene.

Governor Stephens also points out that as the State of Minnesota uses its iron ore land and the State of Oregon its timber lands for the benefit of their respective state universities, so the State of California can use its oil-bearing properties such as the Norwalk Hospital property, for the benefit of such state activities as may seem appropriate. In this connection the message says: "Accordingly, I recommend your consideration, that out of the net proceeds received from oil production, a certain proportion, perhaps one-half, be set aside as a reserve fund, and that the remainder be used as a contingent appropriation on a percentage basis to certain of the state functions not adequately provided for out of the regular legislative appropriations, as for instance, a fixed percentage according to the respective needs to each of such activities as the University of California, the State Teachers' Colleges, the State hospitals, the Department of Agriculture and the Board of Forestry."
STATE PROSPERITY.
The great prosperity in California is illustrated in Governor Stephens' message by his reference to the banking situation with 2,531,624 depositors in the state banks at the close of the last fiscal year, and total assets in the state banks, savings and commercial, of $1,657,940,000, an increase in five years since July 1, 1917, of $723,736,000, and an increase in the year ending June 30, 1922, of $161,904,000.
Other evidence of prosperity are given in the fact that during the past two years the State Corporation Department has authorized the issuance of securities to an aggregate value of $1,432,504,000; also in the great expansion of real estate activity, particularly in city and rural subdivisions and in the building of thousands of homes, and further in the enormous expansion in all lines of insurance business.
The public utilities of the state are reported to have an aggregate increase in operating revenues over operating expenses between the years 1920 and 1921 of $55,687,047.
RAILROAD COMMISSION.
Governor Stephens enunciates the policy which should govern the regulation of the public utilities by the Railroad commission in the following language: "It is the function of the State Railroad commission to so regulate these utilities that their operation may be maintained on a basis of efficiency, and their usefulness extended according to the best interests of the state, with no undue burden upon the rate payers in the state. Again, he says: "The Railroad commission is a regulatory body of a judicial character with inquisitorial powers, and is charged with the duty of meeting out justice to both sides of every issue. It was established under a mandate from the people of the state to safeguard communities from abuses of capital control in the use of public franchises. It is inherent in the very nature of public service franchises, that the first obligation of the franchisee is toward the people by whom the franchises were given. Not only is the safety and permanency to the regulatory principle involved in their proper interpretation of the law governing public utilities, but as well the maintenance of the trust committed by the people to the corporate holders of these franchises."

The Railroad commission's report states that the sum of $29,350,000 has been saved to the public through reductions that were effected in the past year.
EDUCATION.
Governor Stephens' message says "the primary assets of any state or nation are its children, and our teachers are the chief makers of our civilization. Our material developments will last for a time, but the making of our people's character is a matter for all time to come."
He points out that over 51 per cent, or over $45,000,000 of the total appropriations and fixed charges for the two-year period ending June 30, 1923, was for education. The adoption of the constitutional amendment by a vote of the people in 1920 had the effect of raising an increase of 110 per cent, or an increase of $15,918,000 in the fixed charges of elementary and secondary schools, and that other fixed charges for the state university and other items brought the increase for the two-year period ending June 30, 1923, up to $18,000,000 in education alone.
AGRICULTURE.
Governor Stephens shows that more advanced agricultural legislation was passed by the legislature of 1921 than by any previous legislature in the history of the state. He also points out that California is preeminently an agricultural state, with a total value of all farm property of approximately $3,500,000,000, and with a value of the products of its soil in 1921 of $635,519,000. California's output of fruits is equal to about one-half of the total value of fruits of the entire country.
The message stresses the importance of plant quarantine in protecting the fruit industries of the state from destruction by plant pests, such as the Mediterranean fruit fly, the alfalfa weevil, the white pine blister rust, and other pests that would destroy our valuable plant life, if our borders were not guarded by close inspection of all shipping and railroad freight for contraband material.
WORKMEN'S COMPENSATION.
The State Compensation Insurance fund is prominently mentioned as one of the successful activities of the state. This fund was established in 1914, and has not cost the state a dollar. The premiums in the first year amounted to $500,000, and last year amounted to $5,000,000. At the same time this principle of workmen's compensation insurance has won favor with both employers and employees as a business like method of relieving distress, and it has assisted in reducing friction between employers and employees.

The amendment to the national constitution granting the franchise to women was ratified at a special session of the legislature called by Governor Stephens in November, 1919. Legislation was approved by him making women eligible for election as school trustees, and also eligible to act on juries. The governor recommends the legislature to amend the community property law with proper safeguards to business stability and responsibility to enable women to make testamentary disposal of their share of community property.
The minimum age for child labor in state trades has been increased under Governor Stephens' approval, and the state aid to needy children has been increased so that it should be $1,000,000 a year. pending for this purpose.

STATE HIGHWAYS.
Governor Stephens discusses frankly the question of the development of the state highways. He points out that of the total of 64,000 miles of rural roadways in the state, the state highway system as contemplated covers only one-tenth of the total mileage, or 6400 miles. Of this amount 2500 miles have been completed, and 1000 miles are under construction. He further says: "One of the problems before the state is whether this limited extent of highway mileage is to be made available by moderate cost per mile for the rural and mountainous sections of the state, which are the most needy and susceptible of development, or whether the state's funds should be expended on a much smaller and more centralized area of highway improvement. Upon the determination of this problem rests the policy as to the character and expense of the highway pavements to be built. Believing that the proceeds of highway bonds hitherto authorized by the vote of the people of the entire state should be applied as widely as possible, I have favored the construction of our highways at a moderate cost per mile, thereby securing greater mileage at the same total outlay than could be secured by the initial construction of heavier and wider pavements. Moreover, it has been established that these pavements of moderate cost, when thicker and wider pavements are required, can be salvaged at from 75 to 90 per cent of their original cost."

Governor Stephens recommends the legislature to ratify the compact entered into by representatives of California and the other states, concerning the division and apportionment of the use of the waters of the Colorado river system. He says: "I recommend it for your ratification, believing as I do that it will contribute largely to the conservation and early development of an extensive area within the State of California, and to the other important ends described in the compact."
PLAN FOR PROGRESSIVISM.
Concluding his message, Governor Stephens says: "Finally, permit me to again remind you that this is a progressive state, committed by the enlightenment and conviction of its people to forward-looking, constructive and humane policies, and I confidently look for the maintenance and development of those principles in your deliberations and legislation. California, one of the richest states in the Union, with rapidly developing resources and growing population, is destined to become one of the great commonwealths of the world, and it is your enviable duty to continue the building of a structure of the foundations that have been laid."

Richardson in Addresss Says He Will Give State House Cleaning

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 8.—The following address was delivered by Governor Richardson at his inauguration today:

At the recent primary election there was one paramount issue before the people. At the general election there was presented the same issue. The people by their vote at these two elections indicated that they want the state conducted on an economical, efficient and businesslike basis, that they want to stop the orgy of extravagance which has prevailed during the past few years, and that they want to put out of power the political machine which has dominated the state government. The expressed will of the people must be carried out without weakening any of the humane, charitable, progressive or educational functions of the state government.

POLITICAL HOUSE CLEANING.

In 1911 the people did a good job of political house cleaning. During the past few years another great political machine has come into power which has cost the people millions of dollars. It will be necessary to first wreck this political machine before the state can be put on an economical basis and the government again handed back to the people.

FORM OF GOVERNMENT.

Economy in government is not entirely a matter of the form of government, but must depend primarily upon the spirit and purpose of the officers in control of state affairs. The state should improve its form of government by elimination of unnecessary boards and officers, by consolidation, and by doing away with overlapping functions. Two years ago this state combined certain offices into departments, and the result has shown that it is difficult to find supervision to head these departments, that not a single office has been eliminated and that the cost of these departments has increased rather than decreased. Efficiency and economy were not desired—hence were not secured. Primarily the people must depend upon the men in government rather than upon form of government, but with men dedicated to good public service much can be done, and with an improved plan still more.

WASTE ON HIGHWAYS.

The state highways are in a deplorable condition. Millions of dollars of the people's money have been squandered on roads which have proved a failure. The specifications under which the roads have been built have proved defective. The original four-inch cement highways intended to be permanent roads broke down in a very few years. The five-inch concrete highways have been nearly a total failure. The roads themselves and the Pittsburgh test show the state specifications defective. After several years of experience the engineering department in charge of the highway work has shown itself incapable of learning even through experience of its blunders. The people who pay the bills will not soon forget those who are responsible for this result. The task of reconstruction and maintaining these broken down highways will be a tremendous undertaking.

BETTER, FEWER LAWS.

Upon the Legislature rests the grave responsibility of passing new laws and repealing old ones. The value of your work will depend upon the merit, and not upon the volume, of your work.

Let us hope that the statute book of 1923 will be the smallest in size in a score of years.

CIVIL SERVICE COMMEDED.

Civil service has proved its worth, and the defects complained of are mainly those of administration. Civil service to be truly appreciated must be contrasted with the old spoils system. Civil service employees who become inefficient should be promptly recommended for discharge, as the state should be protected as well as the employees. In the recent primary election the law against collecting political assessments from civil service employees was violated. This should be investigated and the offenders brought to justice.

DRY ACT ENFORCEMENT.

The people have indicated that they want the Volstead act enforced, and every peace officer in California should do his full duty. The rigid enforcement of this law will result in moral benefit to the whole state, and will also save the cities, counties and the state many thousands of dollars. The constitution of the nation and of the state must be respected, and all good citizens, regardless of opinion, should unite in this worthy object.

ECONOMY BUDGET.

Some time during the present month an executive budget will be presented to you. This budget will represent the expressed will of the people in the matter of state economy and will carry into effect the purpose of the budget amendment adopted at the recent election.

DELAYS IN COURTS.

There is a demand for a more speedy trial of cases before the courts. The remedy seems to be in more activity on the part of the judiciary and less delay on the part of the attorneys. As the state pays part of the salaries of the superior judges of the counties, the state has a right to insist upon efficient service and the resignation of those who become derelict or incompetent. The matter of simplifying court procedure should have your careful attention.

OBJECTIONABLE LOBBYING.

Legislatures heretofore have succeeded in a measure in limiting and controlling lobbying. While you are supreme in this matter, the executive can assist you in checking a form of lobbying which is objectionable, and that is the attempt of state employees and members of boards and commissions to exert undue influence upon the members of the legislature. At the last session of the legislature there were state employees who spent weeks in Sacramento at state expense trying to influence and seeking to intimidate the members of the legislature. Political bosses drawing state salaries and on state expenses shocked the people of California by their brazen action. Some of these bosses are now in the employ of the corporations which they then opposed. If such employees are not needed in their various departments they should be removed from the payroll. No state employee should come to Sacramento except upon the request of the legislature, or some of its committees, or upon official business. Employees residing in Sacramento should assist the legislature when called upon but should not assume the role of lobbyist.

ACCIDENT COMMISSION.

The Industrial Accident commission has been a beneficial human agency in safeguarding workmen and their families. This commission should be composed of strong, able competent men who can and will do the great work placed in their charge. This commission must be protected and, if possible, put on a more efficient and systematic basis. In the buying of securities for investment for the compensation fund there should be a strict limit placed upon the character of the purchases so as to prevent speculation and the purchase of doubtful bonds and questionable stocks.

PRIMARY VINDICATED.

The value of the direct primary law was signally demonstrated in the primary election when the great state political machine aided by most of the county politicians went down to defeat. The machine politicians were united in their opposition to good government, but the people by their votes showed they were tired of extravagance and boss rule.

EDUCATION AND THRIFT.

The education of the youth of the state is one of the most vital matters, and while California ranks high in educational standards, it should be our endeavor to have it rank still higher. Education should not be confined to book learning, but should embrace good morals, unselfish citizenship, manual training, thrift and loyalty to national ideals. The people are willing to contribute liberally to education because it promotes better citizenship, but they are not willing to have their money squandered. The educational departments of the state should be placed on an economical and efficient basis, waste should be eliminated, and advocates of thrift should be placed in control.

GENERAL SUBJECTS.

You will undoubtedly join me in support of every possible aid to farmers, good roads, fair dealing to labor, Oriental exclusion, justice to our war heroes and the protection of life and property. It is my purpose to remove from office the members of the present political machine, to substitute business for politics in state government to abolish unnecessary offices and commissions, to restore efficiency to the various departments, to put highway construction in the hands of skilled road builders, to attend strictly to the business of my office, and while meeting all the necessary needs of the state, to save the people many millions of dollars. Your cooperation and support will be of inestimable aid to me in my plan, and you undoubtedly realize that you are under the same obligations to the people and should be responsive to their wishes in as full a measure.

HUMANE LAWS.

California should be kept in the foremost ranks of progressive states, all forward looking legislation must be cherished and every effort should be exercised to extend those humane functions of government which will help mankind in their struggles.

This message is submitted to you in the confident hope that you will seriously consider the suggestions, and will give them expression in the legislation you may enact.

TRIBUNE BUREAU, Sacramento, Jan. 9.—With the speaker's fight on the way in the Assembly, trouble is brewing in the Senate. Here the time-honored prerogative of the Lieutenant-Governor in appointing the Senate committees has come under the fire of a group of Senators who claim that Lieutenant-Governor C. C. Young is not co-operating with Governor Richardson.

The first sign of these difficulties came early yesterday morning when the members of the Senate attended a caucus prior to the formal opening of the body. Senator Frank M. Carr of Oakland was

JAIL TERMS FOR ALL PEDDLERS OF DOPE PROPOSED

Committee Report Finds
There Are 20,000 Addicts
in California.

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 9.—(By International News Service.)—The report of the committee appointed after the 1921 session of the legislature to investigate the practicability of establishing an isolation hospital for the care of narcotic users, will be presented to the legislature now in session but will not embody provisions for the establishment of a hospital.

The committee report urges the passage of a law by the legislature providing for jail sentences for all "dope" peddlers in lieu of fines.

The legislature will also be called upon to memorialize Congress to take action to stop the traffic in contraband drugs.

There are approximately 20,000 narcotic addicts in California, the report states.

The narcotics investigating committee, which was appointed by Governor W. D. Stephens, is composed as follows:

Dr. George L. Elsdon, member state board of health; Dr. John A. Kelly, member state board of health; George McQuinn, state architect; M. B. Meade, and Egeron Shore, member of state board of control.

Three Boxing Bills
Ready for Solons

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 9.—Three different boxing bills will be introduced during this session of the state legislature, it was learned today.

Assemblyman Fred Hawes of San Francisco will introduce a measure permitting six-round instead of four-round bouts, the sport to be regulated by a board consisting of the sheriff, chief of police and district attorney.

A limit of fifty rounds for boxing bouts is included in a bill to be introduced by Assemblyman Harry Morrison of San Francisco. The bill provides for a state commission and provides that 10 per cent of revenue derived be paid to the state.

Still another bill has been prepared by Attorney Sam Shortridge and will be introduced, he anticipates, by some assemblyman. The Shortridge measure would raise the round limit and aim to bring back professional fights, safeguarded and supervised.

Central Club Adopts
Legislative Program

Amendment to the state motor vehicle laws, control of the sale and possession of firearms and establishment of a full time branch of the state labor commission in Oakland, is the program of legislation which was adopted last night by the Central Oakland Improvement Club.

Steps will be taken to bring the matters to the attention of representatives in the state legislature during the present session. The club is credited with 400 members.

The year John L. Davis is requested in a resolution adopted at the business meeting to take action to prevent the showing of films featuring Regene Arden in Oakland. The petition points out that such appearances on the screen contribute directly to delinquency.

Following the resignation of James S. MacLafferty as acting president of the club, Mrs. May Samuel was elected to the executive position.

GOOD NEWS FROM ABSENT FRIEND

"What do you think of this letter that just came from Margaret? She is spending the holiday with me and she is engaged to a childhood friend."

"Good for Margaret! I didn't even know she had a lover in the old home town. She never mentioned him."

"Well, it seems that every body's seen each other for years. He is home for the first time in five years from the East. He and Margaret have revived old friendships and have even carried it so far as to fall in love."

"I'll wager that Margaret thanks her lucky stars that she got those new clothes before going home. You know, she said at first that she wasn't going to get anything new for her annual visit home and you persuaded her to dress up for the home folks."

"Yes, she mentions that. She thanks me again and again for making her get those two new dresses. She says: 'My dear, I was wearing that lovely blue canton crepe when Jack asked me to marry him. He said I was lovely in that dress and I wore the other one at a hurry-up announcement dinner given by my chum last night.'"

"That's a good deed. Believe I'll get a new dress myself if I does."

"Well, if you do go to the same place—Cherry's, at 523 13th street. They are having reduction sales during January and one can buy a $49.50 silk dress for $29.50 and have practically all the time one wants for payments."—Advertisement.

Richardson in Message Tells His State Policy

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 9.—(By United Press.)—Following are briefly summarized the policies and program of Governor Friend W. Richardson, California's new chief executive, as outlined in his inaugural address to the State Legislature today:

Determination to institute at once a thorough "housecleaning" and wreckage of the "great political machine," which, he charges, has cost the people of the State millions of dollars.

Institution of forms of government which will be based on economy, combined with efficiency.

Abolition of all unnecessary offices and commissions.

Complete reorganization of the State highway commission to put it in the hands of "skilled road builders."

Fewer and better laws.

Strengthening of the State civil service.

Strict enforcement of prohibition amendments, both State and National.

Expedition of the trial of cases in all courts of the State.

Bar on lobbying of all forms, including that indulged in by State employees.

Strengthening of the industrial accident commission.

Educational program which will uphold California's reputation as the center of learning.

All possible aid to the State's agriculturists.

Oriental exclusion.

Full justice to veterans of all wars.

Van Tassel's
LOVE TANGLE IS TOLD BY WIFE

A "wretched term" made a slam at me, which indicated something of the sort. Glad you sign "Kathleen," but it may be well to sign "B. H.," and no more until there is greater freedom. Use plain envelopes and be careful as usual about mentioning any office, city, or hotel in the vicinity of San Francisco. You understand and I shall be anxious to get reply to this. I trust you implicitly and know you are equal to any emergency. I love you one—two—three.

"T. V. VAN."

The following is another letter, unsigned, admitted on Mrs. Van Tassel's testimony, addressed to Van Tassel and dated Oakland, March 10, 1922, from his wife:

"My Dear Robert: You need not hesitate to speak freely and frankly with me of matters which have been under discussion between us for the past few weeks. It is not my intention to continue to irritate and annoy you, and if you will tell me frankly how you feel and what your plans are I think I will not mention in conversation any of the things you may tell me concerning your acquaintance with Mrs. B. H. Watkins, nor will I use against you or her any of the information that you give me concerning any proposed or accomplished plan between yourself and Mrs. Watkins, nor interfere in any amicable adjustment of your relations with her so long as you make no further effort to secure a legal separation between yourself and myself. But I reserve the right to use any and all information that you may give, or that I may secure from other sources whenever and at which time as you make, any effort to secure a legal separation.

"Sincerely yours,"

(Unsigned).

Mrs. Van Tassel admitted sending the foregoing letter to her husband and said she received no reply. Several days later, however, she found in the waste basket in her husband's office a three-page missive addressed to her in which Van Tassel set forth his position toward his wife and toward Mrs. Watkins. In part, he says:

"You are compelling me to continue a relationship that is distasteful, irritating and repulsive. So far as myself or my friend is concerned, no tragedy or crime will be committed. We may violate a few social customs and disregard the conventional usages, but we shall not commit any crime nor allow ourselves to think of doing so. I know what you, under the flames of anger, have threatened, but I know that right down in your heart you do not desire to harm me or anyone who may be dear to me. You many wonder why anyone is dear to me, who is not also dear to you, but this is one of the puzzles of our human nature. Bear in mind that having won the boy's confidence as you do, and working upon his sympathy as you have, it is quite easy to incite him to almost any daring thing.

"If anything happens to me or my friend, before or after things are adjusted and fully settled between you and me, suspicion will not pass unnoticed, the guilty parties. There are laws in this land of ours for the settlement of human disagreements and disputes. If you grant my request, at least two of us will be reasonably happy, and you will be no less happy and comfortable than you are now, or would be if you forced me to continue a relationship that I don't want to continue. To be sure, we can go on in this formal deceptive and hypocritical fashion, but it is not the best way. Some day you will say 'Robert, your way is best after all. Take your freedom and do the best you can.'"

"ROBERT D. VANTASSEL,"

Mrs. Watkins today refused to make any statement regarding the part she is said to have played in the Van Tassel's matrimonial troubles.

STRAITS BRIDGE FRANCHISE GIVEN: WORK TO PROCEED

Contra Costa County Supervisors Approve Carquinez Span From Crockett.

Direct communication for land travel between the Eastbay cities and Vallejo, Sacramento and the vast territory to the north is assured by the action of the Contra Costa county supervisors at Martinez yesterday in granting to the Redon Vallejo Ferry Company a franchise to construct a bridge across Carquinez straits from Crockett, on the Contra Costa side, to Morrow Cove, in Solano county. Yesterday's award by the supervisors terminates a scramble that has been on for several months the other two being the San Francisco Transit company and the Dillon Point Development company.

It was stipulated in making the award that construction on the bridge must be started within four months from the time the project is sanctioned by the United States War Department, and the Redon Vallejo Ferry Company is required to put up a bond of $50,000 to insure performance. Time for the completion of the project is limited to three years.

The bridge will be of the suspension type, about 3200 feet long, and it will cost approximately $3,500,000. It will have four spans, each of the two in the center to be 1655 feet long, and each of the two shore spans 535 feet. It will be 30 feet wide and will clear the water of the bay by 135 feet at mean high tide.

More than one half of the sum required for building the bridge has been subscribed, according to Avon J. Hanford, president of the Redon Vallejo Ferry Company, and the financing of the project is assured, he says.

CURTAIN CALLS

By WOOD SOANES.

NOW that Ethel Barrymore has embarked on her season as Juliet with more or less success, it is pertinent to dwell for a moment on the long list of Juliets who preceded the present star in the 325 years since Shakespeare wrote the great love tragedy.

In the opinion of the late William Winter, the greatest of all, the most fascinating and irresistible, was Adelaide Neilson, the great English actress, who rose to the height of her fame in the years immediately following the Civil War.

The first actress known to have interpreted the tragic heroine, however, was Mrs. Saunders, who played opposite Harris' Romeo at Lincoln's Inn Fields. Eight decades later Jenny Cidder delighted old London in the part and when David Garrick first attempted Romeo in 1750, Anne Bellamy was his Juliet.

The beginning of the nineteenth century saw the Juliet of Mrs. Siddons enjoying great favor. Siddons who succeeded her in the next fifty years included Sally Booth, Helen Faucit, Eliza O'Neill, Mrs. Bartley, Miss Jarman, Miss Pinder, Fanny Kemble, Emmeline Mordaunt and Laura Keane. Miss Faucit was one of several Juliets who played opposite the great Macready.

Charlotte Cushman appeared as Juliet in 1855. Previously she played Romeo with her less famous sister, Susan, as Juliet. In 1880 Helena Modjeska played the part opposite J. Forbes Robertson and two years later, Ellen Terry, and Henry Irving starred in the play. Mary Anderson first appeared as Juliet in 1875 and she was but sixteen years old. Mrs. Patrick Campbell played the part in 1895 with J. Forbes Robertson again appearing as Romeo. To Viola Allen fell an English Juliet to the Italian Romeo of Alexander Salvini. Other actresses who have played the role include Maude Adams, Julia Arthur, Olga Nethersole, Corina Ricardo and in Oakland not so long ago George Ebby presented Jane Urban as Juliet to Crane Wilbur's Romeo with considerable success.

Seekers after novelty have found something to satisfy their appetites for the moment in the "Review," which is being tried out in New York. It is a device which by the aid of electrical instruments attached to every seat in the theater causes the figures on the motion picture screen to appear in three dimensions instead of two, as formerly.

Each instrument in the theater is electrically synchronized with the projecting machine and the result is that the spectator experiences on a glorified scale the same thrill that formerly lurked in the old fashioned stereoscope which had a prominent place in the parlor along with the what-not, the plush family album, the engraved and embossed family bible and the wax flowers.

Through the medium of the "Review," the characters on the screen seem to float out over the Auditorium seemingly over the heads of the occupants of the first few rows. The novelty is being tried at the Selwyn theater with a fantastic comedy called "M. A. R. S." and it is a curious sight to see each patron holding a sort of looking glass before him and having the time of his life.

It completely does away with the annoyance of having to squirm about in one's seat because the person sitting directly in front is a person of no mean proportions, in a physical way. At any rate, it is a novelty.

ENTRANCES

Sophie Treadwell has re-written part of "Gringo," her New York play, and it is continuing on its way to success, according to reports.

The musical play for the Duncan Sisters will not be reached until spring. In the interim the blonde duo will continue in vaudeville.

At Woods is planning a "Lawful Larceny" company for Chicago.

Holbrook Blinn is due to come west for a dramatic stock engagement in February under the sponsorship of Thomas Wilkes.

"Barnum Was Right," the Philip Bartholomae-John Meehan farce, has been presented in Washington, D. C. The cast includes Donald Brian, Marion Coakley, Will Deming, Enid Markey, Elwood Bostick, Lillian Tashman and Spencer Charters.

"It's a Boy," which only last month concluded its New York run, has been secured by George Ebby for dramatic stock presentation at the Fulton.

Trini, the Spanish dancer, has arrived in New York to prepare for her part in the new Winter Garden review. Trini, who is 29, is an exponent of the barefoot life. She will appear in a series of dances never before presented in America. She was recently one of the artists in "The Fun of the Fays," produced by Charles B. Cochran at the London Pavilion.

Speaking of returning artists, Ruth Draper arrived in New York directly after the New Year. She is to do a series of character sketch recitals at the Broadhurst theater there.

Al Woods is planning a surprise for the boys when he presents "Diana Comes to Town," the name of the musical version of "Lonely Wives." The prima donna is a "dark horse," whose last name is Marvenga.

Members Sought By Electric Club

Three teams composed of members of the Oakland Electric Club will compete for the next six months in a membership drive. The competition will include activities of a general sort, such as work for civic betterment and for a concrete foundation for the organization. The three teams were selected at the luncheon of the organization yesterday, and were designated as "Amperes," "Volts" and "Ohms."

James Vandergrift of the Mazda Lamp Division, has offered a dinner for the winning team. The growth of the use of electrical appliances in the home was told by R. E. Fisher, vice-president of the Pacific Gas and Electric company, who was the speaker at yesterday's meeting. During the past year, he said, 1000 electrical ranges have been installed in Oakland homes using electricity from his company. He predicted this number would more than double during the coming year.

Thomas Meighan Scores Success In Screen Story by George Ade

THOMAS MEIGHAN, whose latest film success, "BACK HOME AND BROKE," will be presented at the American Theater starting tomorrow.

Round Eight of H. C. Witwer's "The Leather Pushers" Series Completes Attractive Program

Thomas Meighan in the leading role of a George Ade picture story with pretty Lila Lee in support is the attractive combination of "Back Home and Broke," Meighan's latest success, which is being shown at the American Theater starting tomorrow.

"Back Home and Broke" is one of George Ade's modern fables, telling of a young man given an opportunity to sound out his friends. Meighan creates a characterization equally as favorable as in his "Miracle Man" and "Man-slaughter."

Round Eight of the new series of H. C. Witwer's delightful tales of the prize ring, "The Leather Pushers," with Reginald Denny and the original cast, is offered in conjunction with the showing of the Meighan picture.

The American Theater orchestra, under the direction of Miss Carol Weston and Miss Phyllida Ashlev, offers another of its novelty concerts.

"Back Home and Broke" will be presented at 12:05, 2:20, 4:35, 6:50 and 9:05.—Advertisement.

AUDIENCE GIVEN HEALING AT HERTZ CONCERT

Fifth Symphony of Tchaikovsky Proves Brilliant Success.

By ROY HARRISON DANTORTH.

The Fifth Symphony of Tchaikovsky, which will always do as much to sustain his good reputation as "1812" and the "Marche Slave" do to sustain his popularity, was the important thing in an excellently played program of the San Francisco Orchestra last evening. Alfred Hertz has done nothing better in the series of evening concerts which Yvonne W. Potter has managed.

Tchaikovsky's status as a composer would have been higher than it is had it only the Fifth Symphony and a few others of his work upon which to rest. While not strung so high emotionally as the Pathétique, it is also less bizarre. It is nearer the hearts of plain humans by far than his illustrious successor. It speaks the language of common men, roused by sorrows and crosses, hopes and enthusiasms out of the commonplace. It has there an epic meaning behind it, as the program notes suggested; perhaps its intent is personal. In either case, it leaves untouched few notes of the scale from the trivial to the sublime.

And with similar versatility Hertz played it. There was phugacity in the valve, pathos in the andante, majesty in the triumphal return of the motto in the finale.

Nothing he has offered this season stirred his audience more than that tremendous conclusion last evening. There was force in his hand without blare, and subtlety despite the force.

The playing followed the climactic arrangement of the composition, yet throughout there was detailed attention to phrasing and shading, and particularly to balance. The new seating arrangement with the celli in front was at last quite justified.

Before the symphony were played three lesser compositions, all French. There were the winsome melodies of Massenet in the "Phedre" prelude, the grotesqueries of Saint-Saens in the "Danse Macabre," with Louis Persinger as solo violinist winning a large share of the applause, and the broad fun of Dukas' "L'Apprenti Sorcier" to top off the first part.

Though the audience was by no means small, there were more empty chairs than we who know the beauty of the Hertz program liked to see. There should never be any vacant chair, Oakland's reputation as the seat of a musically cultured people will need other boosting unless all of the places are taken each time. Evidently, there is an appealingly selfish reason that one sets something really worth the going.

Wife Is Seeking Fortune Teller's Secreted Wealth

That the business of telling fortunes is a remunerative one was the testimony of Mrs. Grace Singh, 706 Broadway, she appeared before Superior Judge Kinsell to press her suit for divorce against Boor Singh, Hindu palmist.

Mrs. Singh testified that in 1921 she filed suit for divorce against her husband and that, when he learned of her intention, he sent $1000 to India. This was following the sending of various sums, aggregating $5000, she averred. She also testified that Singh keeps a large sum in cash in hiding and that she does not know how much it is nor where it is secreted.

Mrs. Singh also testified that the premises at 706 Broadway are owned by her husband and herself, as well as property in Berkeley. She testified to a number of sensational happenings during their married life, the character of the testimony being such as to cause the court to bar all spectators.

LABOR LEADER IS CANDIDATE

W. J. Moorehead, labor leader, and identified with many civic movements, is the first candidate to announce himself for the commissioner's fight.

Moorehead yesterday formally entered his name in the fight for Commissioner of Revenue and Finance, which will make him the political rival at the spring primaries of W. H. Edwards. In a statement covering his candidacy issued yesterday, Moorehead states:

"I have decided to place my name before the people as a candidate for Commissioner of Revenue and Finance in the coming spring election primaries.

"In making this decision, I was influenced by the urging of many men and women prominent in this community.

"If elected I will pursue constructive, business policies, and seek at all times to promote the best interests of Oakland and all of its people.

"As commissioner I would not allow personal likes or dislikes or any political consideration of any character to hamper my usefulness as a public servant in matters affecting the welfare of the city and the people.

"The commissioner I seek carries with it the position of ex-officio member of the school board. In that position I would strive to eliminate politics from that body, which has jurisdiction over the important work of educating our children. As a man of family, I have a deep interest in the welfare of the school system of the city, and feel that I am qualified to assist in working out the problems of that department."

Moorehead is president of the Carmer's Union, and has been identified as a member with the work of the Mount Diablo State Park board, the Onward Oakland club, Alameda County Safety council and many other organizations.

KIPLING BIDS FOR HIS OWN MANUSCRIPT

LONDON, Jan. 9.—The earliest unpublished manuscript of Rudyard Kipling, one which he had forgotten existed, has been offered for sale and the highest bidder so far is the author himself. The manuscript contains twelve pages and is entitled "At the Pit's Mouth."

Translated from the diary by R. K. and is valued by the owners at 800 pounds sterling. It was written in 1884, while Kipling was a young journalist in India.

The story is a satire on Anglo-Indian society and tells of a man's love for a married woman. One of the same author has the same title "At the Pit's Mouth" but, except the locality, the resemblance to this early manuscript ends.

Kipling, when informed that the manuscript had been purchased by the dealers, at first doubted its authenticity but on examination he declared the work genuine.

Incidents connected with its efforts have been made to publish the manuscript, which is still protected by the original copyright but Kipling has refused.

DRY CRUSADER BACK FROM TRIP TO NEW ZEALAND

"Dussyfoot" Johnson Optimistic As to Prohibition Work in Antipodes.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 9.—Seeking a much-needed rest following his strenuous campaigns in New Zealand, where the party he backed was overwhelmingly defeated, William E. ("Dussyfoot") Johnson, America's internationally famous "dry" crusader, and Dr. Mary Harris, evangelistic superintendent for the W. C. T. U., have arrived in San Francisco.

Johnson predicted that the Antipodes will soon be dry. He declared that the "cards were stacked" in the recent election in New Zealand. While the "dry" campaigner was making these statements, residents of both countries arriving on the same steamer announced that the same steamer met with a decidedly different reception in the Antipodes, and that the feeling against him was so great in both countries that police protection was needed to prevent mob action.

Johnson admitted that he had received many threatening letters, but laughed them off with the statement that "a threatened man lives long."

"I don't expect America to be made as dry as we want it to be in my generation or the next," he said. "Take slavery for instance. It has been abolished for the last 40 years, but today you see cases of peonage reported from the State of Georgia."

Johnson will rest two weeks at the ranch of his son, Clarence E. Johnson, in San Bernardino.

U. S. Holds Respect of World, Says Traveler

The entire world, and especially the nations of the East, has a greater respect today for America than any other one great power, according to Royal Lincoln Wirt, who spoke yesterday before the Kiwanis club at the Hotel Oakland. Wirt, who has for several years been engaged in Near East relief work, and who but recently returned from a world tour which took him through all the stricken lands, presented a graphic picture of the starvation, disease and immorality that has swept over the lands invaded by the red armies, and by the Turks. He declared the Turk is an abomination on the earth and should be wiped out.

Wirt spoke before the Kiwanis club six months ago, and since that time he has toured the world, seeking relief funds from other nations and directing relief work in general.

FRENCH RAPPEL.
In the course of his address he declared that the action of France in seizing additional German territory because of the failure of Germany to pay her indemnity is a selfish move on the part of France and will not win for her any of the world's confidence which he declared is steadily becoming less because of her attitude, and because of the desire for revenge on the part of the French nation and its people.

"I am glad we are not obliged to help the French, and that is exactly why I am opposed to Article Ten of the League of Nations. Because the League of Nations is going too far. She has today in a position in the eyes of the world where the crumb of America's finger is watched from every corner of the globe. Our attitude and our actions mean a great deal to all the nations. In fact, America's power abroad is too great to be estimated. It is our selfishness. Uncle Sam has but to express his desires and they will be carried out nine times out of ten, and that is a great deal more than any other nation of today can ever hope for."

JEALOUSY BLAMED.
In discussing the present crisis brought on by the war, Wirt declared that the cause of the war could be credited primarily to two things: first, the jealousy between nations over the Dardanelles; and second, because of France's smoldering desire for revenge toward Germany, and the recapturing of Alsace-Lorraine.

"Three times the tonnage that passes over the Atlantic waterway passes through the Dardanelles," Wirt said, "and it was the latter's desire to obtain that great waterway that led to the war. He was looking east, not west."

During his recent visit to Constantinople, Wirt said, he enjoyed a comedy skit between France and Great Britain. The question of who should police the streets of Constantinople arose. The French insisted on policing the streets and the British insisted that this work remain under their jurisdiction. The result, he said, was that Great Britain policed every other street, while the French troops policed those between.

"I am not for the League of Nations, and I am mighty thankful that we have no and in the supple that is daily growing acher. Yet, for the sake of staying off the great flood of undesirable people that is headed our way, I would like to see the United States take some hand in the affairs of Europe."

DECALOGUE IS DEAD.
"In those countries from which I have just come, the ten commandments, which were made there, do not exist. In the land from which came our religion and much of our education there is today none of either. Conditions in the Near East, where went the refugees from Russia, once a refuge for the great flood of undesirable people thousands upon thousands of white slaves. Women and girls from the best families of Russia, are now walking the streets in this condition in breeding disease and the lowest kind of immorality. These people and their diseases are coming our way; they are gradually finding their way to our land, one way or another, as well as to all other parts of the world that offer the least resistance. We must take some stand and act to stop this. Our part is to squelch this terrible uprising of disease before it reaches us. Fully half of the people of those lands are diseased, and it is spreading. Blindness is sweeping over the land, and with it goes hand in hand other maladies that would make our people shudder if they could but come to the full realization of the conditions that actually exist. We should place a sanitary engineer in the East with power to clean up, so to speak."

U. S. INFLUENCE GREAT.
"America should extend her influence and bring order to the Near East and to Europe, where chaos or near chaos obtains. Our influence is almost too great to imagine. The British and French influence is gradually losing footing, and especially that of the French, while ours, in its place, is growing tremendously. America could today do more good to those stricken countries than any other one power."

Wirt declared that if France seizes the portions of Germany that she is threatening to occupy, it will paralyze the business of Europe and the entire world. "France is going too far. She has no business going into the Rhine. She is only agitating Germany and taking away her power of reconstruction. The world's trade is at stake. We must give Germany a chance to come back. Take all the hope from a nation and we develop a nation of outcasts and assassins. It is a tactical blunder, and the United States should make her stand clear."

The speaker advocated an alliance of all English-speaking peoples to offset the alliance of other races which he declared will grow out of the present situation.

He also advocated the cancellation of all foreign debts due the United States. If the United States would cancel her war loans, he said, England and France would in turn cancel one another's debts, and in this way relieve the entire

MISS CUNNINGHAM WINS PANTAGES THEATER CROWD

Former Star of Greenwich Follies Makes Hit of Strong Program.

Cecil Cunningham, late star of the Greenwich Village Follies, came to Oakland to headline the bill at the Pantages theater this week and it the applause of yesterday's audience can be accepted as a barometer she has the most entertaining act of its sort to visit the west in some time.

Miss Cunningham sings only three songs but the manner in which she presents them provided a sufficient period of entertainment. She has a magnetic personality, a pleasing voice and an easy manner. Her final number was an orchestral novelty which won the star several curtain calls.

The bill this week is up to standard, opening with a spectacular iron jaw act featuring a feminine slack wire worker of no mean ability. Bill Green followed with a routine of songs and stories, including a blue verse. He was favorably received as was Les Morgan and Beryl Gray in their comedy playlet, "Bungalow Love."

The two other notable acts on the program were presented by Kaufman and Lillian, the latter being a nut comedienne in "Fars and Feathers," a singing-dance act; and the Monalisa Sextette, five men and a woman, all accomplished musicians, who held the world of imbeciles, bringing up the value of the war, the live, the franc and the pound. We would be repaid in world trade, he declared. He also made an appeal for money for the Near East relief fund.

house in the closing position. All in all the vaudeville was cheerful and entertaining.

This week's feature picture is "The Broadway Madonna," a melodramatic affair with a rather inadequate ending. Starring in the Oakland girl, just elevated to stardom. She played the title role. Miss Valera is a member of the Valera family of musicians and artists here and recently was a student at the Oakland high school.

ACTION ON BRIDGE AWAITS OPINION

REDWOOD CITY, Jan. 9.—Granting of the franchise for the proposed $8,000,000 toll bridge across the bay from San Mateo to Alameda is still held up pending receipt by the supervisors of the opinion of District Attorney Swart as to the legality of the franchise. Although this opinion has been awaited since December 15, District Attorney Swart told the supervisors at their meeting yesterday that it was not yet ready, and would not be for another week or ten days. He said the delay was owing to pressure of other legal business, caused by the fact that he is without assistance in his office, and that he has twenty felony cases pending, including three murder cases.

The supervisors are unanimously in favor of granting the franchise, as soon as it is ready to be approved by the district attorney, according to an unofficial poll taken yesterday, it is said.

H. U. Maxfields Sail For Europe On Saturday

Mr. and Mrs. H. U. Maxfield of Perry street are among the latest of Eastbay folk to depart for the continent, sailing from New York last Saturday on the Adriatic, the Cunard line, for foreign ports. Mr. and Mrs. Maxfield went south at Christmas time to spend the holidays with their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Bushman Lewis (Jeanette Maxfield) in Fresno. They left the day following for Boston in order to be with their son, Maupin, over New Year's.

The first port to be reached abroad will be Naples, and a co-

Mrs. Thomas Campbell will be hostess Saturday afternoon at bridge at her home entertaining for a recent bride-elect, Miss Helen Richerson. Mrs. Campbell was Miss Thelma de Pauli. The Campbells are now in their own home in York Drive, having resided at Rondo Court directly after their marriage.

ARE BACK FROM SAN DIEGO

Mr. and Mrs. Landers Redman, who now make their home across the bay, are entertaining at their home guest Mrs. Redman's sister, Mrs. Harriet Chalmers Adams of Washington, D. C. Mrs. Adams, who has won recognition as an explorer and is author of many articles in the Geographic magazine, will spend some time with her niece, Mrs. Lloyd Vincent Roberts of this city.

Mr. and Mrs. Roberts left today for a short stay in Fresno. The Redmans returned two days ago from San Diego where they have been the guests of the William Clays and of Mrs. Stephen Childs in Los Angeles.

RETURN TO HOME IN NORTH

Among the holiday visitors returned to their respective homes are Mrs. Howard Collins Bailer, and Mrs. Clinton Munson. Mrs. Bailer was Miss Marguerite Tuttle, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. L. Tuttle of Berkeley, before her marriage. November 12, to Mr. Bailer, whose home and business associations are in San Francisco, the couple have come to live. Mrs. Munson, who was Miss Spaulding, a cousin of the bride, came up from her home in Fresno to spend the yuletide with her kinsfolk. Mrs. Bailer was graduated from

SHE DARKENED HER GRAY HAIR

Home-made Remedy.
Mrs. E. H. Bonis, a well known resident of Buchanan county, Iowa, who darkened her gray hair, made the following statement: "Any lady or gentleman can make their hair as soft and glossy with this simple remedy, which they can mix at home. To half a pint of water add 1 ounce of bay rum, one small box of Barbo Compound and 2 1/2 ounces of glycerine. These ingredients can be purchased at any drug store at very little cost. Apply to the hair every other day until the gray hair is darkened sufficiently. It does not color the scalp, is not greasy and does not rub off. It will make a gray-haired person look twenty years younger.—Advertisement.

School Women's Club Prepares To Give Drama

By EDNA B. KINARD.

The School Women's Club of Oakland objects seriously to any belief that its 800 or so members are mere classroom automatons. Interested in all phases of public life, under the leadership of Miss Edna White, president, the club has assumed an important place this year in the community by offering to its membership many forms of study and pleasure entirely separate from professional work, and by participation in outstanding social movements. A group of teachers is making an exhaustive study of state laws relating to women and children which will be reported in practical form for the benefit of their fellows. Psychologists, card, dancing, swimming, choral sections find a large following.

But now come the thespians among the school women to claim the center of interest. Those with an interest in drama and its expression have organized into a group with ambitious plans to put over a program about once in ten weeks. Miss Alice Baxley, assisted by Miss Mary Stout, is chairman of the section with Miss Margaret Wales acting as secretary. The members have pressed into service E. W. Jacobson as coach. Plans are going rapidly forward for the first evening of drama.

Tryouts will be held on Thursday at 4 p. m. in the Bacon building club rooms when the cast for the initial play will be chosen. School women will be eligible. The selection will be made on the delivery of 10 lines chosen by the candidate. Miss White, Miss Baxley and E. W. Jacobson will act as the board of judges. Keen interest is manifested in the ambitious plans of the dramatic group by the entire school department as well as club members.

Plans for a nurses' club house to be erected in Oakland and decision on the schedule of fees for nurses are important matters which will come before the regular meeting of the Alameda County Nurses' Association tomorrow night in the Oakland Young Women's Christian Association.

The association owns a valuable building site in Summit street upon which it is proposed to erect a club house which will efficiently answer the needs of the professional women, affording a general headquarters and living accommodations.

A program of music and dance is anticipated by members and guests of the Oakland Club tomorrow afternoon in the Montecito avenue club house. Mrs. Henry Giessen will be chairman of the afternoon. Vocal numbers will be rendered by Mrs. Alpha Daul and Mrs. Castle Hyde Landsdale, assisted at the piano by Mrs. William Rost. Miss Ruth Adams will present a group of pupils in fancy costume dances. They are Peggy Bates, Charlotte Rudd, Edith Thuere, Jane Bacon.

Youngsters in Tompkins and Campbell schools, who faced a winter with scant wardrobe against the cold and little folk of whom the Blue Bird of the Oakland TRIBUNE knew, are being kept in health and comfort because of the kindness of the Oakland Parent-Teacher association. The gift of these mothers to the community child includes 332 garments, sixty pairs of stockings, thirty-eight pairs of shoes, eight gymnasium bloomers.

Section meetings in Rockridge Woman's club are being resumed after a brief recess taken in respect to Mrs. W. P. L'Honnemieu, president, whose young son died last week following a brief illness. The California History and Landmarks group will meet on Friday morning, presenting the program which was arranged for last week.

Constables Take Oath of Office

ALAMEDA, Jan. 9.—John C. Fielding and Charles E. Keyes took the oath of office as constables of Alameda county yesterday afternoon. They succeeded Charles Forep and Charles Deuser.

Keene retired from active service as a member of the Alameda police department last June after being connected with it for more than thirty-one years. Fielding, who was a conductor, is on the retired list of the Southern Pacific company.

The latter from New York. Both honor guests are newcomers to Piedmont.

Mrs. James Telford Hamilton of Claremont will be hostess Friday afternoon at luncheon, the honor guest to be Mrs. William H. Langdon. Mrs. Langdon returned just before the Yuletide from a year's travel abroad and this is one of many social affairs to be given in her honor.

Character and earning capacity are the basis on which this company lends money. Persons who do not have good collateral on which they can borrow through the usual banking channels often need a small loan which they cannot ordinarily secure without being subjected to embarrassing conditions; the assignment of wages or ruinous terms. We make such loans on a fair basis, and arrange for easy repayment through small sums paid weekly, semi-monthly, or monthly. OAKLAND SENDS GREETINGS TO U. S. SALESMEN

75,000 Invitations Sent Out
For Big Convention to Be Held Here.

Seventy-five thousand programs for the convention of the International Association of Special Salesmen which is to bring between 2500 and 3000 delegates to this city next month, are being mailed out to salesmen and manufacturers throughout the country by C. P. Klinkner, secretary of the local assembly of the association, it was announced today at a meeting of the organization in the Hotel Oakland.

This convention, according to Chamber of Commerce and city officials, who are co-operating with the members of the Oakland assembly in arranging the details for the reception and entertainment of the delegates, is gaining widespread publicity for the city of Oakland.

FORMER OAKLAND CITIZEN.
Albert G. Burns, international president of the association, is a former resident of Oakland and was in business here as an industrial engineer until he took up his duties as chief executive of the salesmen's organization in Chicago last year following his election to that office.

It was through Burns' efforts that the convention, which is to bring the leading salesmen of the country to this city, was secured for Oakland.

Oakland has donated the use of the Municipal Auditorium to the association for its convention session and for manufacturers' exhibits. A picture of the auditorium as the place where the convention is to be held adorns the cover of the printed programs, which are being mailed by the thousands in the cities of the East.

In an article on the first page of the program describing the features of the convention, the beauties of Oakland and the advantages of this city as a convention place are pointed out.

OAKLAND TO GREET CITIZENS.
"Salesmen and saleswomen from all parts of the country are coming to Oakland by the hundreds to attend the convention and to get acquainted with their kind and to enjoy the delightful sunny climate of California," says the printed program message. "Already every indication points to the fact that two or three thousand business men will be on hand when the convention is called to order by International President Albert G. Burns on February 20."

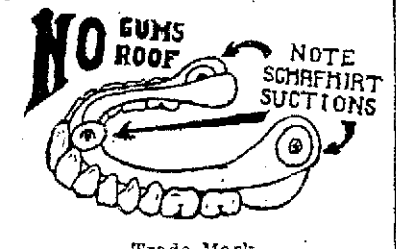

Oakland civic officials are solidly behind the convention, which they regard as one of the most important ever welcomed to their delightful city. The hospitality of California is world famed and the city of Oakland is all organized to surpass itself in the warmth of its welcome to the three thousand salesmen from all parts of the country.

WOMAN SOILL COULDN'T WORK

Gained Strength, Weight and Health
Doing Own Work by Taking Lydia
E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Marion, Ind.—"I was all run-down, nervous and bent over. I could hardly drag around, let alone do my work. I read some letters in the papers telling what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound had done for others and I thought I would try it. Then I found out my husband about his wife and what good it had done her and wanted him to have me try it. I took one bottle and could see what it did for me in a week's time, and when I had taken three bottles I had gained both in strength and weight and was doing my own work. I took it before my last baby was born and it helped me so much. I am sure and glad to recommend the Vegetable Compound to any woman who suffers from female ailments, for I know by experience what it can do. I have used Lydia E. Pinkham's Sanative Wash, also the Liver Pills, too, and think them fine."—Mrs. W. M. SCHAFFHIRT, 202 E. Grant Street, Marion, Indiana.

A record of nearly fifty years service should convince you of the merit of Lydia E. Pinkham's Compound.

RUNAWAY BOY OF 11 SKATES FROM S. F. TO SAN JOSE

Police Interfere With Youngster's Plan to Continue to Los Angeles.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 8.—The 11-year-old runaway put a stop to what would probably have been a long distance record for roller skating when 11-year-old William Calhoun of this city, was taken into custody at San Jose.

Will started on his trip Saturday afternoon from his home, 74 Leavenworth street. He had received a pair of roller skates for Christmas and he decided to skate from San Francisco to Los Angeles.

At 7 o'clock Monday morning he had covered his first fifty miles. On this day of his journey his intentions to establish a long distance skating record were shattered by the San Jose police.

William told the officers that he had run away from the home of his mother and stepfather, William Pringle. His home is just outside San Francisco.

Skates 50 Miles WILLIAM CALHOUN, aged 11 years, who was on his way from San Francisco to Los Angeles on roller skates when he was stopped by the San Jose police.

Famous Old Recipe for Cough Syrup

Early and cheaply made at home, but it is then all for quick results.

Thousands of housewives have found that they can save two-thirds of the money usually spent for cough preparations, by using this well-known old recipe for making cough syrup. It is simple and cheap but it has no equal for prompt results. It takes right hold of a cough and gives immediate relief usually stopping an ordinary cough in 24 hours or less. Get 2½ ounces of Pinex from any drugstore, pour it into a pint bottle, and add one pint of sugar syrup to make a full pint. If you prefer, use clarified molasses, honey or corn syrup. It tastes good, keeps perfectly, and lasts a fairly long time. It truly astonishes how quickly it acts, penetrating through every air passage of the throat and lungs—loosens and removes the phlegm, soothes and heals the membranes and gradually but surely the annoying throat tickle and dreaded cough disappear entirely. Nothing better for bronchitis, spasmodic croup, hoarseness or bronchial asthma. Pinex is a special and highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract known the world over for its healing effect on many diseases. Avoid disappointment by asking your druggist for 2½ ounces of Pinex with full directions and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money promptly refunded. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

RECORD MADE IN LAYING BAY CABLE

A new eight mile power cable along the bottom of the bay connects San Francisco and Richmond today as the result of a record breaking feat accomplished yesterday by cable engineers and officials of the Great Western Power Company.

The new cable will supply San Francisco with 15,500 horsepower duty from the company's hydro-electric supply.

The long cable, reaching from point 1 on the San Francisco waterfront to Richmond, was laid in three hours yesterday. It was uncoiled at the rate of three miles an hour from a huge drum borne on a barge which was towed by tug.

The cable is the longest that has ever been manufactured for high voltage purposes according to O. Hechtman, cable engineer for the American Steel and Wire company of Worcester, Mass. It was shipped here from Worcester in nine freight cars and the nine segments were spliced together upon arrival. Its cost was $250,000.

This is the fourth power cable to be laid under San Francisco bay by the Great Western Power company, the first having been placed there in 1911. The total horsepower carried by the four is 5,000.

STOMACH UPSET

Get at the Real Cause—Take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets

That's what thousands of stomach sufferers are doing now. Instead of taking drugs or trying to patch up a poor digestion, they are attacking the real cause of the ailment—clogged liver and disordered bowels. Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets arouse the liver in a soothing healing way. When the liver and bowels are performing their natural functions away goes indigestion and stomach troubles.

Have you a bad taste coated tongue, poor appetite, a lazy don't-care feeling, no ambition or energy, trouble with undigested foods? Take Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are a purely vegetable compound mixed with olive oil. You will know them by their olive color. They do the work without griping cramps or purges.

Take one or two at bedtime for quick relief. Eat what you like and live—No Artificiality!

NAVY OFFICERS BATTLE $60,000 NAVY YARD FIRE

Blaze at Mare Island Post-office Menaces Big Buildings.

MARE ISLAND, Jan. 9.—Naval officers battled fire at the navy yard last night to assist in saving the contents of the postoffice and to prevent the spread of the flames from building 45, one of the largest structures on the island, to the administration building.

Admiral J. S. McKean, commandant, Captain G. H. Campbell, captain of the yard, Captain L. M. Cox, Lieutenant Commander Leo Lindler of the machinery department, and Lieutenant R. E. Thomas of the public works department were among the officers who assisted the navy yard department.

Damage estimated at between $50,000 and $60,000 was caused by the fire, which destroyed a large part of the contents of the building where it started. That building contained the postoffice, the print shop, the sail loft and a hall used for land practice.

George Logue, head of the Mare Island police department, and several assistants broke into the postoffice when the fire was discovered and succeeded in removing most of the mail.

Admiral McKean has named Captain L. M. Campbell, Lieutenant R. S. McDowell and Lieutenant K. Bragg as a board of investigation of the fire.

DECEIT IN HOME MAKES CHILDREN DISHONEST, PLEA

Mrs. Aaron Schloss Urges
Right of other to Half Community Property.

More children have been made dishonest by their mothers resorting to deceit in the home to obtain what should be theirs than by any other influence, Mrs. Aaron Schloss, chairman of the Women's Joint Legislative committee of California, representing six state-wide groups of organized women charged yesterday before the weekly luncheon of the Soroptimist club at Hotel Oakland. Mrs. Schloss declared that it will be for the betterment of children as well as women when the mother's economic standing in the world is recognized and state law gives her a right to one-half the community property. She reviewed the laws relating to community property, and presented the bill framed by the California Bar Association, which will be introduced before the State Legislature with the endorsement of the organization which she represents.

"The community property amendment which was defeated through referendum was lost because women did not believe in themselves, particularly club women," said Mrs. Schloss.

"The married woman who works for wages outside her home is in

Bishop Paddock And Heiress Marry

NEW YORK, Jan. 9.—Rev. Dr. Lewis Paddock, Protestant bishop of the eastern missionary district of Oregon, and Miss Helen Aitken, heiress to half of a $2,500,000 estate, were married today in St. Columbus chapel, Cathedral of St.

Lloyd conducted the ceremony. Only a few friends were present. Dr. Paddock, who is 53 years old, resigned as bishop last September, declaring his health would not permit him to carry on his work. The bride who is eight years his junior, is the daughter of a dry goods merchant who died in 1919.

LICENSES REVOKED.

At the request of the chief of police, three soft drink licenses were revoked today by the city council. They were D. Shippa, 539 Ninth, Pierre Laronde, 6901 First, and J. Burkhalter, 6915 East Twentieth.

no better economic condition than the woman who remains in the home, under state laws," explained Mrs. Schloss. "Her wages belong to the husband. She has not right to half of the community property to any person." Mrs. Schloss offered this as the purpose of the bill which will be presented in Sacramento.

Department chairmen were appointed for the year during the luncheon yesterday. They are: Membership, Mrs. Sylvia C. Ward, auditing and finance, Miss Minette Perkins; program, Mrs. Isabelle Jenkins; publicity, Miss Elizabeth Reed Watson; budget, Mrs. Gladys Leggett; booster, Mrs. Ruth Boyd; courtesies, Mrs. A. B. Glaser; sunshine, Miss Lillian Brownridge; telephone, Mrs. Edna Spencer; emergency, Mrs. Anna Hunt; vocational, Mrs. Paul Rogers; revision of constitution, Miss Nina Meritt.

JURISDICTION ON BONDS EXPLAINED

Matters concerning street improvement bonds should be taken up through the city treasurer and attorney, instead of being left to the discretion of contracting companies, according to a statement today by City Treasurer H. J. Anderson concerning confusions which have arisen in the case of a street improvement company whose affairs have been "slightly mixed."

The assertion was made by Attorney Clinton Dodge recently that bonds of certain bonds were in a precarious position, with no certainty that their interest will be paid. Anderson says that this will be straightened out, but says the whole affair would not have happened if the transactions had come through the city treasurer.

When a street improvement is made the district pay for that improvement issues certain bonds to pay for the work. These bonds are secured by the properties within the district. According to regular practice, these bonds should be under jurisdiction of the city treasurer; but in some cases it is charged that the street improvement company has gone ahead with its own bond transactions, dealing with the property owners as individuals and failing to list the bonds at the city hall.

"We will see if such practices cannot be halted hereafter," says Anderson.

EUGENE S. VAN COURT, who has been 28 years official stenographer of one court.

Eugene S. Van Court Known in Sporting and Legal Circles.

Eugene S. Van Court today started his twenty-ninth year as a court reporter in police court No. 1.

Prior to being appointed the regular reporter in court No. 1 for eighteen months he has served under four judges. Police Judge Mortimer Smith filled the position until yesterday, when he was appointed a judge in the superior court of Alameda county.

Van Court is well known in both the legal and sporting circles on the Pacific coast. From 1885 to 1922 he was the amateur champion wrestler of the 115-pound class on the Pacific coast. He was an umpire in the Pacific Coast League in 1885, '86, '87, '89, '90, '91, '92, '93, '94, '95, '96, '97, '98, '99, '00, '01, '02, '03, '04, '05, '06, '07, '08, '09, '10, '11, '12, '13, '14, '15, '16, '17, '18, '19, '20, '21, '22.

Van Court was born on March 4, 1854, on a Mexican cattle ranch one mile south of Magfield, on what was then known as the Stanford grant. His father owned a stage line which ran from San Jose to San Francisco.

For the past 35 years he has made his home in this city. During the last twelve years he has resided at 5890 Ocean View Drive.

Stephens Pardons

Dr. W. S. Card of S.F.

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 9.—Dr. William S. Card of San Francisco, who was convicted of murder growing out of an alleged operation after a sensational trial in 1918, was today pardoned by Governor W. D. Stephens and will be immediately released from San Quentin.

In his notification of pardon Governor Stephens recites that the sentencing judge, district attorney and members of the trial jury recommended that Dr. Card be granted executive clemency on the ground that he was convicted on circumstantial evidence.

The San Francisco physician was serving a term of from ten years to life imprisonment.

"MY DOG" DAY TO HONOR PETS TO BE ANNOUNCED SOON

Boys and Girls Asked to Send in Pictures of Canine Companions.

Dogs big and little, dogs of every breed, dogs with or without pedigrees, dogs in every station of life—all are to be honored in the near future in the Eastbay district and outlying sections by the observance of "My Dog" Day. Definite announcement of the date will be made later and a formal proclamation setting aside a certain day as "My Dog" Day, will be issued.

The accompanying illustration is indicative of the scope of "My Dog" Day. It shows two famous members of the canine family. One is "Little Vamp," one of the world's smallest dogs, and the other "White Star's Hell Gate Yack." These are both thoroughbred dogs, but "My Dog" Day is by no means limited to thoroughbreds. Pedigrees have nothing to do with the judging of the participants in this celebration. There is one qualification the dog must have, however. He must have won a place in some boy's or girl's heart.

Boys and girls of 17 or under are invited to send photographs of themselves with their pets to the "My Dog" Day, Editor of The TRIBUNE, Oakland, Cal. If possible, send the films with the pictures.

It is planned to hold dog shows in connection with the celebration of "My Dog" Day, at which judging contests and demonstrations of bravery and faithfulness will be made.

Valuable prizes are to be awarded. Definite announcement as to what the prizes will be will be made in a future issue of The TRIBUNE.

One of the features planned for the observance of "My Dog" Day will be an essay contest. The rules governing this contest also will be announced in the near future. For the present it is desired to procure for publication pictures of boys or girls with their dogs, together with their dogs. If you have such a picture, send it in to the "My Dog" Day editor.

Every Dog to Have His Day

Everything in the way of dogs, between these two extremes will be represented in "My Dog" Day, to be observed soon. Boys and girls of 17 or under are requested to send photos of themselves and their dogs to The TRIBUNE.

BAUM CASE CONTINUED.

Alexander R. Baum, charged with embezzling funds, from the estate of his mother, the late Mrs. Eliza Baum, was before Superior Judge L. S. Church today on his motion for probation, which was made several weeks ago when he pleaded guilty. The case was continued to his account in the estate.

WASHINGTON NOTES

WASHINGTON, Jan. 9.—The House Ways and Means committee decided today that no bills affecting revenues would be reported at this session except those of a purely emergency nature or of direct assistance to the treasury in times of crisis.

The Senate today adopted the conference report on the navy appropriation bill with a total of $25,000,000 for the next fiscal year. The report retained the provision which suggests that the President open negotiations for a permanent conference for limitation of auxiliary craft of 10,000 tons or less.

The Bursum pension bill, minus several of the provisions which President Harding objected to in his recent veto, was reintroduced in the House today by Representative Eugene B. Fulton, Republican of Illinois, chairman of the house pensions committee. The new bill simply increased pensions to veterans and widows already on the pension rolls of the government.

Extension of the Pacific coast interstate paved highway from Crescent City, Cal., to Chico, on the Oregon boundary, was agreed on today by the bureau of good roads and the California state highway commission. This will give a continuous highway from the Mexican line to Astoria, Ore., 1400 miles.

Bills carrying financial relief for the city of Astoria were devastated by fire with a loss of $13,000,000, were introduced in both houses of congress today by Senator McNary and Representative Hawley.

BARKER CASE TO FEDERAL GRAND JURY NEXT WEEK

Oakland Doctor Quizzed in Regard to Treatment of Dope Addicts.

The cases of John Scott Barker, proprietor of a drug store at 431 Twenty-eighth street, and "Dr." Charles Blessing of Los Angeles, arrested jointly with Barker on charges of conspiracy to violate the Harrison anti-narcotic law, will be brought before the federal grand jury in about a week.

Following a conference with inspectors of the state board of pharmacy, who raided the Barker pharmacy and arrested the owner, Assistant United States Attorney Grove L. Pink, in San Francisco, announced that evidence in the cases had not yet been completed, and there would be a delay in the grand jury investigation.

The grand jury assembled yesterday in San Francisco and it was thought that indictments against the two men would be sought.

Dr. Howard R. Parker of Oakland was questioned yesterday in regard to his treatment of patients, and the Barker-Summers and his writing of prescriptions for morphine and cocaine. The prescriptions

Wife Met Affinity, Says Man in Divorce

Chouney O. Phelps is named as the alleged affinity of Mrs. Caroline Enders, by J. B. Enders, 732 today brought suit for divorce.

The husband charges that his wife even kept an appointment with Phelps Christmas Day and on the day following on the pretext she was going to attend a lodge meeting. He says they were married July 8, 1907, and have a son, Melbourne, aged 14, of whom he asks custody.

Autoist Is Sued By Victim's Father

Joseph Serpa, who is facing trial January 17 for failing to render aid to Carl Stubbins, aged 18, who died from injuries received in an automobile collision near San Lorenzo, July 22, last, is today made defendant in a suit for $20,250 damages.

The damage suit is brought by Francis M. Stubbins, father of the boy, who charges negligence on the part of Serpa.

Stubbins are said to be in the hands of federal agents.

During the raid conducted on the Stubbins residence, a rubber stamp was found bearing the name "H. R. Parker, M. D., Medical Director."

Dr. Parker declared today that he had issued no prescriptions for narcotics for patients without a personal examination of the patients, and declared that the proceedings were entirely regular.

TARIFF ON WOOL AIDS PROTECT DE DECLARE TAILORS

Convention Opens Formal
Session; School For Apprentices Is Proposed.

The fourth annual convention of the Merchant Tailors Association opened in the Hotel Oakland this morning. The address of welcome was delivered by Mayor Davie, followed by an address by H. C. Capwell, local merchant.

Archibald Reid of San Francisco, treasurer, was most enthusiastic of the results to be obtained at this convention.

August Steigeler, of San Francisco, chairman of the Weekly Wage System committee, said that the function was for the co-operation between merchant tailors and the furthering and adjustment of labor problems. "This convention will probably fix a new wage scale for this year," he said.

Declarations that the present wool tariff carrying a schedule of 33 cents a pound duty on imported wool gives the American wool dealer an opportunity to profiteer and necessarily advances the cost of living to the consumer, featured the report of President K. S. Ervin.

URGES TAILORS' SCHOOL.
The report urged the establishment of a school for tailoring and pointed out that the tailoring industry suffered from the lack of apprentices.

Referring to the labor situation, the report says: "One of the important results of our regional association has been an absence of industrial trouble anywhere in our territory."

"Face people are the future of educating the public on the problems which the merchant tailors are striving to solve."

MAYOR BOOSTS OAKLAND.
For the enlightenment of the delegates, Mayor Davie reviewed the progress and growth of Oakland as the central distributing point for a wide, rich and productive section of this state.

"Face people are the future of educating the public on the problems which the merchant tailors are striving to solve."

"When I came to Oakland 25 years ago the railroads had a fence around Oakland and had the waterfront. It was a long fight to prove that Oakland and not the railroads owned it. Today it is one of the finest ports anywhere on the Pacific coast. It has 23 miles of short line and the greatest storms are far under water, a diver was employed to hitch the pile-driver chains to the ancient rocks."

Vast quantities of loot lay under water at the base of the old quay wall, according to the harbor department, though most of the stuff is worthless. But among the stuff was found one fine shipbuilder's saw, worth a good sum, and several other tools which are valuable to the harbor department. A section of chain was rescued and is being well cared.

WEST IS TREASURE HOUSE.
H. C. Capwell, local merchant, told the delegates that the purpose of all conventions is the interchange of ideas and they would get out of it as much as they put in it.

He pleaded for unity of the whole west. "We must all present a solid front of fighters in everything that is coming to the west," he said. "We are all citizens of the great West and in the West lies the future greatness of the United States."

In the absence of K. S. Ervin of Portland, president of the organization, Louis Scheeline, local merchant tailor, presided at the opening session. The northwest delegation was present in good numbers having arrived the morning after a 36-hour delay, due to flood conditions in Oregon.

ELECTION THURSDAY.
Election of officers will take place Thursday morning. Eleventh hour nominations are being made and everyone is keeping his choice well covered.

After reports had been read from the various committees the convention adjourned at noon.

An automobile trip will be taken this afternoon through Contra Costa county and in the evening a theater party will entertain the delegates.

A style show for men featuring 200 garments and demonstrating the new masculine style for 1923 will be the feature of the entertainment program. The style show will open at 7:30 in the ball room at the Hotel Oakland and continue until 11 p. m. The public is cordially invited to attend.

CHECK PASSERS PLEAD GUILTY

The plea of guilty offered today by E. S. Brandt was refused by Superior Judge Church before whom Brandt was arraigned on a charge of passing a fictitious check. Chester Case, attorney for Brandt, opened the proceedings by saying: "At this time the defendant asks leave to withdraw his plea of not guilty and enter a plea of guilty."

Brandt then addressed the court saying: "I am not guilty, but I want to plead guilty to this charge." Judge Church questioned Brandt and advised him to confer further with his attorney. Case addressed the court stating that Brandt had advised him that he would plead guilty and that the action was taken by Brandt after a careful consideration of the evidence against him. The court continued the matter to allow Brandt time for further thought and consultation.

Paul Everetts, charged with burglary entered a plea of guilty and asked for probation, the matter being referred to the probation officer, Leonard D. Crompton.

Frank Carr, charged with robbing the premises at 1340 Madison street on November 23, pleaded not guilty and his case was continued.

Charged with passing a check and passing a check, Leonard Barnes entered a plea of guilty, his case being referred to the probation officer.

Newest vanity cases have search-light which come on when the case is opened.

More than 200 styles of men's modes will be shown at the Style Show of the Merchant Tailors at the Hotel Oakland Wednesday night.

City Driver Finds Junk and Tools at Quay Wall Base

The city of Oakland unexpectedly took ownership today of a set of tools, a chain, several rubber boots, some fishing tackle, an ax, a pair of spectacles, a steel packing case, two old notebooks, an anchor, a sheet of paper, and a set of false teeth.

Discovery of these assets was made by a diver prowling along the base of the old quay wall, where the city is trying to pull out ancient worm-eaten timber piles. As the roots of most of these piles are far under water, a diver was employed to hitch the pile-driver chains to the ancient rocks.

Vast quantities of loot lay under water at the base of the old quay wall, according to the harbor department, though most of the stuff is worthless. But among the stuff was found one fine shipbuilder's saw, worth a good sum, and several other tools which are valuable to the harbor department. A section of chain was rescued and is being well cared.

Contracts Between Counties Are Tested

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 9.—A test case designed to establish the validity of contracts made between counties was argued before the State Supreme Court here yesterday and submitted on briefs. The decision, it is said, will determine the limit of inter-county contract capacity.

The case at issue is one which arose out of a contract made by San Francisco county with Alameda county whereby Alameda county would care for the tuberculosis patients of San Francisco at a stated per diem price. Under the terms of the contract San Francisco agreed to pay $100,000 for the erection of a housing unit to care for the patients.

When the first voucher for $5000 covering architect's fees were presented to the county auditor here he refused to pay the claim on the ground that no legal authority existed for a payment of that nature.

What's Happening in the Motor World

The auditorium is rapidly being changed into an Egyptian desert. The ceiling is to be all covered and no daylight permitted to seep through, the great murals are in place and before Saturday night the interior of the structure will be unrecognizable.

Miles of burlap are being used to change the great building on the inside and large crews of riggers and artists are working day and night doing the work.

The motor car dealers have their exhibits ready now to go into the building.

Cars will be run into the auditorium from the stage entrance and from the east entrance Friday. There will be a string of nine new shiny automobiles going into the display spaces all day long. They will start entering early in the morning and all of them will be ready for display Saturday night.

The corridors, which will be used for car, truck and accessory displays, will be completely decorated. Furniture are being placed today and they are to be completed by tomorrow night.

Every foot of exhibit space in the auditorium has been sold, and many applicants were unable to secure accommodations.

There will be more new models than were ever displayed at an Oakland automobile show before. Ford will have a new complete line, so will Overland and Willys-Knight, Franklin, Stephens, Star, Chandler and many others.

There is plenty of interest in the coming display. For the first time, Oakland will have an eight-day show. The other four shows held here were seven-day affairs and thousands attended. In the coming event there will be two Saturday nights, so that record breaking attendance is expected.

Last season, unemployment cut down the attendance to a great degree. This year nearly every man who wants to work can do so. Automobile prices are lower than ever, thus bringing cars within the reach of many thousands who could not afford to buy before.

The show opens Saturday night at 6 o'clock and closes at 10:30 the same night and then every day next week from 10:30 a. m. to 10:30 p. m.

Pastors of State To Meet March 13

The third interdenominational pastoral conference of the Pacific School of Religion is to open in Berkeley March 13. More than 200 pastors from all parts of the state are expected to be in attendance.

Religious leaders of international prominence will take a part in the program of the three days that the conference is to be in session. Included among the speakers will be Dean Shailer Mathews of the Divinity School of the University of California, Dr. Richard Le Rue Swain and Rev. Earl S. Patton of Los Angeles.

Cocoon Oil Makes A Splendid Shampoo

If you want to keep your hair in good condition, be careful what you wash it with.

Many soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much free alkali. This dries the scalp and makes the hair brittle and is very harmful. Mulsified cocoon oil shampoo (which is pure and entirely greaseless), is much better than anything else you can use for shampooing as this cannot possibly injure the hair.

Simply put two or three teaspoonfuls of Mulsified in a cup of glass with a little warm water, then massage your hair with water and rub the Mulsified in. It will make an abundance of rich, creamy lather, and cleanses the hair and scalp thoroughly. The lather rinses out easily, and removes every particle of dust, dirt, dandruff and excess oil. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and it leaves it fine and silky, bright, fluffy and easy to manage.

You can get Mulsified cocoon oil shampoo at any drug store. It is very cheap and a few ounces will last every one in the family for months. Ask your druggist for Mulsified. Advertisment.

fering. We cannot oppose force with force, but we can demonstrate to the world the unreasonableness and illegality of the French plan.

"Their invasion or any other measure surpassing the limits and rights of present occupation will be a violation of the treaty of Versailles and constitute the use of wanton force against a defenseless people."

The Berlin police have assured the French embassy of special protection.

There is much "war scare" talk in the German press.

The government has not yet decided what the status of conditions would be, should the Versailles treaty be declared null and void. One opinion is that it would leave Germany in the same position she was in immediately following the armistice, another is that it would precipitate a state of war. The latter view seemed to be gaining ground.

Germany was reported to be drafting an appeal to the signatories to the Versailles treaty, including the United States.

"Between war and peace," was the headline over the Neue Berliner Zeitung's comment. The editorial began:

"The most fateful decision since 1914 is at hand."

Owing to war scare reports, some of which bear official stamp, party lines are disappearing and news-are supporting the government.

CITY ORDERS WIDENING OF 20TH STREET

City Engineer Instructed to Plan to Cut Twenty Feet Off South Side From Franklin to San Pablo

The city council this morning adopted a resolution directing the city engineer to proceed with plans for the widening of Twentieth street, from Franklin to San Pablo, by cutting twenty feet along the south side.

The original Twentieth street project, which would have cut forty feet off the south side and made a 100-foot street, caused a storm of protest. It was then suggested that 20 feet be cut along each side of the street; but permanent brick buildings on the north side made this impossible. It is now decided to make an 80-foot street by cutting a strip along the south side alone.

Working elements, for and against the continuation of the old Heidecker Brick Company spur track on Stanford avenue, were prepared for another battle in council, but owing to the absence of Mayor Davis the matter was deferred until a week from next Thursday.

'Cold Sleep' Brings Death Near to Shasta Climbers

(After being threatened with starvation amid the snow and ice of Mt. Shasta, Charles E. Warner of the TRIBUNE and Leonard Thatcher of the University of California are shown on the point of succumbing to the desire to fall asleep in the snow from cold and fatigue, at the opening of today's installment—the third—in the story of their five-day struggle to climb to the summit of Mt. Shasta in midwinter. This story, as told by Warner exclusively for the TRIBUNE, is filled with adventure and danger, and is replete with thrills from beginning to end. The fourth installment will appear tomorrow.)

By CHARLES E. WARNER.
 (Copyright, 1923, by TRIBUNE Publishing Co.)

PART III

The "cold sleep," that if unchecked inevitably ends in death, was creeping over us. With our senses and our wills already numbed by it, Thatcher and I were making no effort to resist it. Death, for both of us then, was only a matter of minutes.

Had both of us been new to the dangers of the "cold sleep," it is probable that neither of us would ever have returned from Mount Shasta. It was the force of a habit ingrained into me back in Klondike days, that saved us.

In those days, when I began sinking into the "cold sleep," the more experienced man who was with me would taunt me and actually insult me, in order to make me "fighting mad." When he had succeeded, and I wanted to fight instead of sleep, he would laugh at me.

"My life was saved several times in that way. And these experiences had left something fixed in my mind that rebelled, finally, against letting the cold sleep settle completely down over me on Mount Shasta. It prodded me into recollection; and the recollection of those deep-rooted experiences in the far North awoke me to will myself together for a last stand, with every last ounce of will power available.

COLD SLEEP MENACE TO MOUNTAINERS.

I succeeded in fighting off the "cold sleep" for a moment. During that time I was able to realize that some definite, if severe, course had to be taken, in order to prevent its coming to over me again and overwhelming my will, and doing the same thing to Thatcher.

I knew it was out of the question, if we were to save ourselves at all, to continue carrying our heavy packs. To abandon them meant no food at the cabin, but the main thing now was to get on. We cached the packs by a tree, easy to locate and to recognize.

The stupor continued creeping over us, still offering that sleep that was so peaceful and so alluring. Our footsteps dragged, became more faltering, halted. I made a great effort.

"Can you walk ten steps?" I called out to Thatcher.

It aroused him a little. While I counted them off, we forced our legs to march in steps, then we rested a moment.

"Now you count," I commanded. Again we marched and rested. As each took his turn counting, he tried to do so louder than the other had done. By the time we were half way from the tree to the lodge, we were shouting out the numbers like a drill sergeant. We were both awake, then, and the danger from the "cold sleep," for the time, was passed. We took no more chances, however, but marched and shouted the rest of the way to the lodge.

When we reached the lodge it

WOMAN IN FAINT BORNE TO SCAFFOLD

Mrs. Edith Thompson and Frederick Bywaters Executed in London For Murder of Former's Husband

LONDON, Jan. 9.—(By The Associated Press.)—Mrs. Edith Thompson and Frederick Bywaters were executed today for the murder of the woman's husband, Percy Thompson, on October 4 last.

Bywaters was executed in Pentonville Prison at 9 o'clock. Mrs. Thompson was hanged a few minutes later in Holloway jail.

Bywaters, who made an eleven-hour attempt to save Mrs. Thompson by a "confession" met his death calmly, so far as reports indicated.

Mrs. Thompson had to be carried to the scaffold. She collapsed last evening and was in the care of physicians throughout the night.

Both the condemned met death with protestations of innocence. Bywaters maintained Mrs. Thompson had had no part in the killing of her husband and insisted he had slain Thompson in self-defense.

The woman, in her last interview with her family, assured them that she went to death with no guilt on her soul.

The executions took place without demonstrations but women marched in a drizzling rain before the walls of Holloway jail carrying placards inscribed, "If these are hanged, the judge and jury are also guilty of murder," and "Murder cannot be a crime."

The crowds gathered at both jails in the early hours of the morning, determined to get as close to the scenes of the hangings as the law would permit.

Percy Thompson, a shipping clerk, was stabbed to death in a dark street near his home in Ilford, a London suburb, early in the morning of October 4 last, while returning from a theater with his wife.

When found the body was propped against a wall and his beautiful young wife was kneeling nearby in a hysterical condition.

Upon the strength of her story to the police, Bywaters, 29 years old, steamship steward, was arrested two days later and accused jointly with Mrs. Thompson of murder.

Later a series of letters was produced in which Mrs. Thompson, addressing Bywaters in the most endearing terms, urged him to go to the human system and told of bundling several attempts on her husband's life by introducing various substances into his food. One letter told of using powdered glass from three electric light bulbs, but with no effect.

go either forward or back over a trail that was new to us. A slight deviation, in the dark, from our proper route, and we might lose our way completely, and either of us might go sliding at any moment over an unseen precipice.

But it was equally out of the question to stand still. The wet snow, just as it had done two days before, had by this time penetrated and soaked our clothing, and the upper air had frozen it. It would be dark for at least two hours yet. To stand or sit that long in the freezing wind and wet falling snow would mean death to both of us.

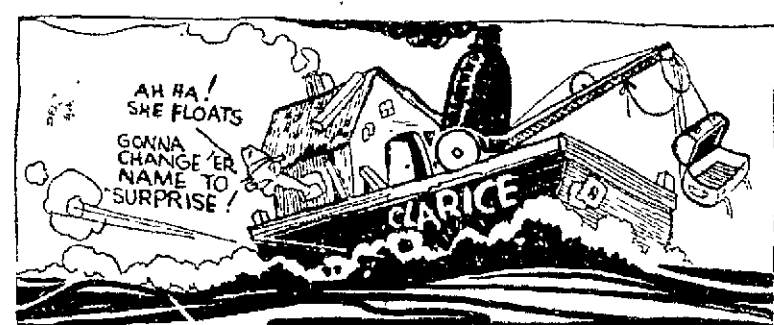

We started ahead, slowly and carefully, feeling our way up the mountain. Step by step with our alpenstocks. After a few minutes, however, the snow began to melt, and we were back to Thatcher, and heard no reply. I stopped short in horror. Had we become separated? If either of us had strayed from the trail, it might mean death both for him and the one who searched for him on that dark mountainside.

"Where are you, Thatcher?" I called, and strained my ears for his answer. But all I could hear was the wind.

With among the trees and bushes, I peered anxiously toward where I had last seen him. Just in front of my nose were a few faint streaks of gray streaks of driving wet snow, and beyond only darkness.

New Sand Pump for City's Garbage Dump Christened

Undertaken by the thick atmosphere which hangs over the city garbage dump in West Oakland, major city officials and invited guests attended the formal launching at noon of the new sand-pump dredge "Clarice," first sea-going craft owned by any street department in California, so far as is known.

The speeches were all short and most of them were abrupt. The audience unanimously mentioned the atmosphere of the dump.

The next time you launch something," suggested Weber, "please launch it somewhere else."

The address of Dr. Harry Smith, health officer, was in part as follows:

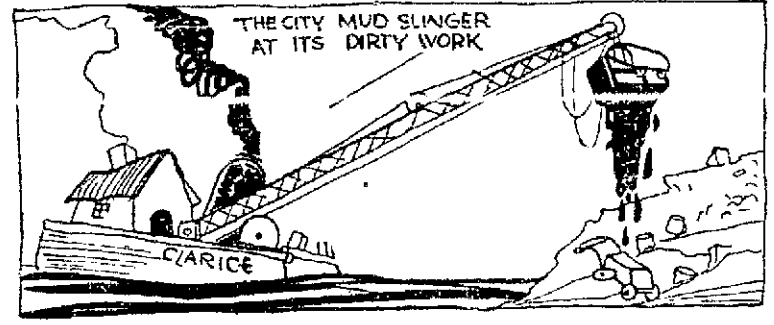

"Then,"

SHORT AND SNAPPY.

City Engineer Harmon in welcoming the guests, was interrupted by cries of "Speed, speed." The speaker was then rushed up to the gang-plank. She carried a bouquet of old flowers and things, all done up in elaborate tin foil and tissue paper. She hurled the bouquet of liquor with unerring aim and the bottle smashed all over the dredge's deck.

Previous to this the bottle was unveiled in the presence of a policeman.

In order to contradict the assertions of ribald persons who insisted that this dredge, made of old junk, could not function, Harmon ordered a demonstration.

to the assembled guests. Graceful replies were made by Harold Weber, secretary to the city, Don Rice of the school department, Landscape Gardener Howard Gilkey, Ralph York of the public works department and many others who volunteered to speak unprompted.

Fertilizer Cases Delayed in Court

ALAMEDA, Jan. 9.—When Frank Carpaneto, Frank Sobrero, R. Chagelazo, Casagrande Basilio and L. Sobrero, vegetable growers, appeared in the police court today on a charge of violating a city ordinance relative to storing fertilizer above ground 1 more than 48 hours, they were confronted by C. E. Blacklock, city manager, and Dr. Tom Carpenter, who told the judge immediate action should be done in the matter as the actions of the men were harassing more than 300 residents in the western section of the city by permitting the fertilizer to be a breeding spot for flies.

Judge Weimer decided that the only way to give each side a fair decision was to delay action in the matter for two weeks.

Alcyon Club Will Discuss Clocks

SHIPPING BOARD PLANNING HELP FOR U.S. BOATS

Lasker Seeking Means to Assist Board Steamers On Atlantic and Pacific

WASHINGTON, Jan. 2.—The Shipping Board is preparing to provide adequate tonnage of government owned passenger and cargo vessels for service between American ports on all coasts and the Philippine islands in the event the latter are brought within the jurisdiction of the coastwise laws, Chairman Lasker announced today.

Plans for service, it was said, are being worked out with the aid of J. E. McKim, Shipping Board agent at Manila. The project, it was added, will be brought to the attention of the president after it has been completed.

Opposition to the establishment of a shipping board service to the islands has developed there and elsewhere. It was said, on the ground that available tonnage might not be adequate and that its operation might adversely affect ocean freight rates. The board's plan, it was understood, is being vigorously opposed by shipping interests, and this opposition and also to dispel the fear that inauguration of such a service would prove a step away from independence for the Philippines.

DISAPPEARANCE OF AUTO MAN IS ROMANCE ECHO?

Wife Wants Schumate Back, and Miss Clarke Thought Him Single.

"Schumate offered to give me an engagement ring after the holidays, but I did not say that I would accept it."

"We were not engaged, and I had only known him for two months. He represented himself as a single man."

This was the vehement denial made today by Miss Mae Clark, attractive young bookkeeper, who lives at 5228 Telegraph avenue, to assertions made by the police department, and her charges against C. K. Schumate, wealthy business man and office manager of a local automobile sales agency, who has been missing from his home at 2115 Woodruff avenue since Christmas.

As a result of the automobile man's disappearance, which was reported by his wife, the police of the Pacific coast continued their apparently fruitless search today for some trace of him. A suicide theory was scouted by the investigating officers, and Captain Richard V. McSorley, head of the detective bureau, declared that police believed the man disappeared when it became certain that his alleged "affair" with Miss Clark must come to light.

DIDN'T SUSPECT HIM.
Miss Clark today declared that she was sure she had nothing to do with Schumate's disappearance.

"I never once suspected that he was married," she said.

"He was always so silent and seemed truly in love with me. The first time I went out with him I asked him if he were married and he told me he was not. I met him at a dance.

"We went together on several occasions, but it was not until Christmas day that I learned he was married and had a family of four children. I invited him to Christmas dinner, and he failed to appear. I called the Paige Motor Company to learn whether he had gone out of the city on business, and was told that he was probably at home with his wife and children.

"I have not heard from him since."

WIFE WANTS HIM BACK.
"Regardless of what he has done, I want him back and need him," said the wife. "I think if he knew it, he would return. Tell him to come home."

Mrs. Schumate was at first unwilling to believe the relations existing between her husband and Miss Clark, unearthed by detectives.

"I can hardly believe there was anything like that," she said trustfully. "My husband was always kind and considerate toward us. We had Christmas dinner at home and went for a drive. Then in the evening he said he had some business at the office. He kissed me, and went out without the slightest indication that there was anything unusual."

"His college team from West Virginia was playing football at San Bernardino, and I thought he might have fallen in with his old companions and gone with them. I got in touch with them, but they had not seen him. His friends and relatives in West Virginia sent a good many Christmas presents, and I thought it might have brought on an attack of homesickness, but he had not gone back there."

"I do not know where to look. If he were not suffering mentally, I cannot believe that he would have gone without a word. Whatever has happened, I want him to come back."

There are four children in the Schumate family: Carl, 9; Robert, 7; Margaret, 5; and Ted, 2.

BROKER ABUSED HER, TOOK $2700, CHARGES SPOUSE

William Adams, S. F. Insurance Man, Accused in Suit For Divorce.

Since their marriage about five years ago, William Adams, general insurance broker with offices at 423 Kearny street, San Francisco, has defrauded her out of $2700, treated her with abuse while he was under the influence of intoxicating liquors, and even charged to her separate account Christmas presents which he gave her and his stenographer, declares Mrs. Louise Adams, 674 Arimo avenue, in a divorce suit.

The complaint, filed today, alleges that Adams, though having a lucrative business, failed to provide for her properly, compelling her to support the family through her own efforts. Adams is charged with having failed to pay household bills and threatened her with violence. Adams also got $230 from her, says the wife.

The complaint, filed by Fernhoff and Stein, asks that Adams be compelled to pay his wife $250 a month permanent alimony, costs of suit, and return to her the diamond ring and $2700 which he only paid $500 on the house, appropriating the rest of the money to his own use, the wife affirms.

Adams was charged with kidnapping C. A. Bradford, boiler foreman on the night of July 19, during the railroad strike of last summer has been set for April 10 by Superior Judge J. C. Needham.

At the first trial the jury stood eight to four for conviction and was unable to agree after deliberating for five hours and was discharged.

Seagulls Eating Roots From Off Alameda Homes

Chemistry War Planned to Save Gravel Surfaces From Birds' Onslaught.

Can chemistry offset the ravages of the seagulls of Alameda?

The presence of the birds in the Island City is giving the residents of that place a problem which seems only possible to solve through chemical means.

In fact a solution to the troubles of Alameda householders is being worked out by Walter L. Gibson, Oakland metallurgist and chemical expert.

Gibson's attention was called to the troubles of the Alamedans by friends of his, resident there, who charged that the birds are degrading the city. Not satisfied with having gobbled up all the small pebbles on the famous Alameda beaches the ravenous birds are now going after the gravel roofs of the homes fronting the bay shore in the western section of the city.

According to those living in the affected area it is not uncommon to hear the noise of a dozen of these birds pecking away at the roofs and then to go out and find that half of the roof covering had been denuded.

It is claimed that the birds are unable to digest the gravel and are forced to vomit it out. The birds are now going after the gravel roofs of the homes fronting the bay shore in the western section of the city.

School Board Picks Ball To Direct Construction

The board of education last night confirmed the appointment of Wilfred M. Ball as superintendent of construction to take the place of Marston Campbell, resigned, with the proviso that this position shall be abolished as soon as possible, consistent with the finishing of the job.

President Harry Boyle of the board introduced a resolution changing the hour of board meetings from 4 p. m. Mondays to 9 a. m. Decision in the matter was deferred till the next meeting.

Some sixteen instruments, including violins, violas and bass fiddles were formally presented to the board of education on behalf of Cynthia P. Lee, as a memorial. Each instrument will have a plate on it and will be loaned to music students, with the proviso that the instruments will be kept in good order and that the board of education account for them each year. The board formally accepted the gift.

FIRST GIFT BY TEACHER.
"Miss Lee was an Oakland educator," said Director Fred Campbell, "and I believe this is the first donation ever made by a teacher to the educational department."

Pleas were made by Athol avenue residents that a lot near Cleveland school be purchased at once lest this property, which would allow the expansion of the school, be diverted to commercial purposes. The board has no money for such a purchase, but adopted a resolution that "it is the sense of the board that this property be acquired for school purposes."

The board received from the Civic League of Improvement Clubs a communication saying that it feels that the proposed bond issue for new schools should not be brought forward "at this time." The letter was filed.

Superintendent of Schools Fred M. Hunter and Director J. F. Chandler were named as representatives of the board at the coming Railroad Commission hearing on half-fares for school children, to be held at the city council chambers Wednesday.

LOCAL MEN WANT WORK.
In commenting upon a recent communication from the Building Trades Council, Business Manager Don Rice brought out that in October, 1919, the Building Trades Council then approved the bond issue, but asked for some assurance that local artisans and residents be employed on schools to be built. The board of education then adopted a resolution that "so far as is possible, local artisans will be employed."

Further discussion of this awaits the appearance of labor representatives. The matter is a result of a recent letter from the Trades Council charging that non-taxpayers are being employed, and suggesting that labor might not be favorable to a new bond issue under such conditions.
